Congress May Quit Tonight

Knowland Predicts Windup Despite Senate Filibuster On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland predicted today that Congress may be able to finish up its work and adjourn tonight.

Knowland made the prediction to President Eisenhower during a conference at the White House.

It was based on a belief by Knowland that the one-man filibuster in the Senate by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) against the compromise civil rights bill would peter out and that other southerners would not join in the talkathon.

Thurmond took the Senate floor at 8:54 Wednesday night. He was still talking at 10:54 this morning—14 hours later.

Knowland's prediction also assumed that Senate and House would give quick approval to the compromise foreign aid bill, the only piece of major legislation besides civil rights still blocking adjournment.

Aid Bill in House

The House already has passed the rights bill and was scheduled to take up the aid bill today.

The compromise aid bill totalled $2,768,760,000—700 million less than Eisenhower had pleaded for.

House-Senate conferees reached the compromise late Wednesday. The final figure was 244 million dollars more than the House had voted; 257 million less than the Senate voted.

Other high points in the adjournment rush:

Proxmire: Sen. - elect William Proxmire (D-Wis.) stood on the Senate floor Wednesday night less than 24 hours after his upset victory. But GOP opposition blocked swearing him in at least until sometime today.

FBI Files: House - Senate conferees called a meeting to reach a compromise on legislation aimed at protecting the FBI files in criminal trials. The House's bill is supported by the administration. The Senate bill is weaker.

Immigration: The House sent its so-called hardship immigration bill to the Senate for approval of technical amendments. The Senate already has passed a similar bill. Both would open American shores to more than 60,000 more aliens in the next two years.

Adjournment fever was running high. Congressmen were buying tickets for home—and for Paris, Rome and the Orient. A boom year for congressional junketing appeared in prospect.

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. said on the House floor in granting travel permission to four committees for study trips abroad:

"Do you think that we could raise a quorum in Paris?"

But Paris seemed a long way off throughout the long cool night while Thurmond talked on almost alone in the great Senate chamber.

The baldish, grey-haired senator read the election laws of the 48 states. Then he began reading the criminal contempt decisions of the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

The Senate had been debating the civil rights bill since 10 a.m. Wednesday. It was the longest session so far this year.

Busy Program Will Close Rostraver Fair

The 15th annual Rostraver Twp. Fair will close tonight with a busy program at the Junior High School. Highlight of the entertainment at the Stadium stage will be a variety show at 7:45 p. m. with Paul Lewis as master of ceremonies.

Outdoor square dancing to the music of the Royal Aces will be the final big fair attraction beginning at 10 p. m.

Also on tap tonight are a Midget League baseball game at 5:30 p. m. and a fashion school at 8.45.

More than 1,000 entries have been — or will be — judged by fair officials. That's the largest number of exhibits in the fair's history.

Big Crowds

Another big crowd turned out for yesterday's program which was featured by a concert of religious music entitled "The Singing Church" and presented by a combined choir of Rostraver churches.

Another highlight of the outdoor entertainment was an exhibition by the United Boys Brigade Drum and Bugle Corps of Monessen.

Most of the fair exhibits are located in the cafeteria and gym of the school. Special displays may be found in classrooms.

As usual, the entire promotion is free to the public.

Fair officials yesterday announced these winners:

Lias Owner of Hat Found with Slain Gambler

WHEELING, W Va. (UP)—William (Big Bill) Lias, former racketeer and race track owner, probably owned the broad brimmed gray felt hat found under the body of slain Wheeling gambler Nick Miller, police said today.

Investigation, however, indicated neither Lias nor the hat had any connection with the death of Miller, authorities said.

Police announced Lias told them he had left a gray felt fedora in Miller's car about one month ago when he borrowed the vehicle for a trip to Washington, D.C.

Lias said he had not seen the hat found under Miller's body in a car trunk, but that from the description it sounded like his. The hat was size 7¾.

Miller's decomposed body was found Aug. 22 in the trunk of his Lincoln hardtop in a residential section near Pittsburgh.

The fact a hat was discovered under Miller's body was not announced by Allegheny County detectives at Pittsburgh until Wednesday.

Firemen Parade Tonight

Many Musical Units to Take Part; 7 p. m. Is Starting Time

A big parade will move promptly at 7 p. m. through the city tonight to feature the week-long street fair sponsored by the Monessen Volunteer Firemen.

W. Roy McShaffrey, municipal fire chief, said the parade will blend musical units and firefighting equipment.

"We've limited our invitations to insure a balance between bands and fire trucks," McShaffrey said. "We plan a snappy parade which won't be drawn out by a long line of vehicles."

According to McShaffrey, 17 bands and drum corps have indicated they intend to parade. That will mean a line of march which will take more than an hour to pass any given point.

Many Accept

These musical groups have accepted invitations: New Kensington, Greensburg, Duquesne Annex, Charleroi, Monongahela, Bentleyville, North Belle Vernon, East Bethlehem Twp., Rostraver Twp., West Newton, Rillton Majorettes, Arnold, Imperial, Universal, Vandergrift, Monessen High band and Monessen Boys Brigade.

A prize list of $500 will go to the parade units.

City officials will head the line of march. Also in the forefront will be Miss Rosalie Culp, of Monessen, who represented Pennsylvania in the recent Miss Universe contest.

The judges stand will be located at Fourth St. and Schoonmaker Ave. where the parade will be picked up by flood and spotlights.

The parade will form at Third St., then proceed east on Schoonmaker Ave. to First St. From there it will move down Donner Ave. as far as Eighth St., then back on Schoonmaker Ave. to Third St. where it will disband.

McShaffrey said the parade will be judged by the following heads of city organizations:

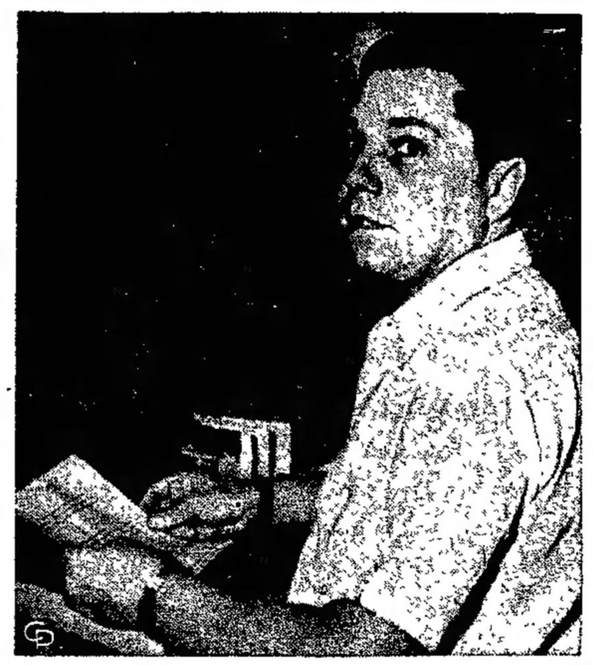
He Wanted to Frighten Wife, Banks Testifies



HOFFA WILL RUN ANYWAY — James Hoffa, Teamsters vice president, reads a wire service story about corruption charges leveled at him by the AFL-CIO ethical practices committe in Washington. Hoffa said he will seek the presidency of the Teamsters union despite the unspecified charges.

'Man Would Be Low To Shoot Woman', Pricedale Man Says

Edward J. Banks, 30-year old Pricedale millworker accused of murder, told a jury of six men and six women in Greensburg today that he did not want to kill his wife—only frighten her into returning home.

"It takes a mighty low man to shoot a woman — you just can't do that," said Banks under direct examination from his court-appointed defense attorney Frank P. Ezerski Jr., of Monessen.

Ezerski had Banks on the witness stand for 90 minutes this morning telling his version of the shotgun shooting which claimed the life of Banks' wife Ruby last April 4.

Banks said he did not know all that happened — "I don't remember."

"I didn't know what to do. I was upset over bills. I was worried," he declared.

Mrs. Banks was slain in the yard of a neighbor where her husband said she went after scolding him for asking for $5 from their last $20, all that remained after he paid some bills.

Followed Wife

Banks told the jury that his wife went to the home of Alfred Rone, a Pricedale neighbor. He followed her and attempted to persuade her to return home.

When she refused, Banks said, he went home, got the shotgun and sat down with the weapon on the cistern at the home of another neighbor.

Banks testified he figured he could scare his wife into a reconciliation as he had done once before with a revolver. He said he saw his wife leave the Rone house and thought she was about to enter an automobile with another man.

"Then everything blacked out," he testified. "I did not remember raising the gun or pulling the trigger."

May Reach Jury

Replying to questions asked by Ezerski, Banks testified that his wife had once slashed him with a butcher knife and subjected him to many indignities. He said he made a written statement to police after the shooting and answered "I guess so" and "I guess that's right" to questions because he was so upset.

The case, which opened on Monday, is expected to reach the jury late today.

Banks is being defended by Ezerski and Robert Carson, Sr., of Monessen.

Westmoreland County assistant district attorneys Edward Doran and Earl Keim are handling the prosecution.

The state contends that Banks shot his wife, a mother of seven children, at point-blank range with a 12 gauge shotgun blast following a quarrel.

The murder information was filed by Rostraver Twp. Constable Harry Weightman.

Judge John M. O'Connell is presiding.

Leader Orders Holiday Patrols

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today ordered Pennsylvania state police to supplement normal patrols with plainclothesmen and unmarked cars during the long Labor Day weekend.

Leader said the order to Commissioner Earl J. Henry was an all-out effort to make "this the safest Labor Day holiday in Pennsylvania history."

"Whether a state policeman is in uniform or not, no motorist has anything to fear as long as he operates his vehicle in strict conformancy with our traffic laws, the governor said.

Col. Henry said he had ordered all troopers available for highway patrol to be on duty for the holiday which begins officially Friday at 6 p. m. and ends Monday at midnight.

Rostraver Twp. School Bus Schedule Listed

Rostraver Twp. schools will open next Tuesday afternoon for the 1957-58 term, Superintendent E. F. Carter announced today.

The township's fleet of ten buses will begin picking up students at 11:45 a. m. on the opening day. Thereafter last year's bus schedule will be followed.

Carter said that second and third trip students will be picked up on opening day at time intervals following 11:45 a. m. that correspond with the regular schedule.

The township will operate four elementary schools this term: Webster, Fellsburg, LaGrange and Collinsburg. They will be in addition to the Junior High and Senior High.

Carter estimated that 2,150 students will enroll in the Rostraver system for the 1957-58 term.

Morning classes on opening day have been cancelled to permit a teachers meeting, Carter said.

Plan Appeal In Photo Ban

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Greensburg Tribune Review and Pittsburgh Post-Gazette have filed notice with the U. S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals they will appeal in the Westmoreland County photo ban case.

The appeal is from a Federal Court ruling upholding the ban on news photographs in the Westmoreland County Courthouse and jail.

The two newspapers and seven newspapermen and photographers were convicted of contempt for violating the ban which was imposed during the 1954 trial of John Wesley Wable, since executed for the slaying of a trucker on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Three Youths Facing Long List of Charges

Three teen-aged youths — two of them from Monessen — today faced a long list of charges ranging from armed robbery to auto theft following a two week crime spree.

The young men, who already pleaded guilty to several charges at hearings this morning, were identified as.

Harry Laatu, 18, of 482 Motheral Ave., Monessen; Stephen Tellep, 17, of 57 Pacific Blvd., Monessen; and William Manor, 18, of Elizabeth R. D. 3

Because of his age Tellep will come under the jurisdiction of juvenile authorities, police said.

The trio wa sarrested Tuesday at midnight in Donora as they attempted to refuel an alleged stolen automobile. Police questioning linked them to a long list of crimes, including larceny, armed robbery, burglary, violation of the uniform firearms act and possible charges of cashing bogus checks.

Plead Guilty

Today before Squire Raymond Curley in Charleroi, the three youths pleaded guilty to various charges. They were expected to enter similar guilty pleas during another hearing today before Squire Tom Petrus in Donora.

Squire Curley ordered Laatu and Manor held for the next term of Washington County Criminal Court.

According to state police, the crime spree started on August 15 when Laatu and Manor stole a car in Weirton, W. Va. They drove the vehicle to Bentleyville where it was abandoned and later recovered by police.

A few days later, Laatu and Manor reportedly took a 1953 Oldsmobile from the H. and B. Chevrolet Garage in Charleroi. When they were arrested by Donora police they were attempting to refuel that automobile.

Police said the duo broke into the Gary Drive-In in Twilight on Aug. 19 and took hot dogs, hamburgers and chewing gum. On Aug. 22, troopers said Laatu and Manor entered a combination serv-

94 Lose Lives In Argentine Boat Collision

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Crewmen of the U.S. freighter Mormacsurf were held incommunicado aboard their ship here today pending investigation of a collision-sinking that killed an estimated 94 Argentines.

The sinking of a riverboat, City of Buenos Aires, in the Plate Estuary Tuesday night may prove to be the worst marine tragedy in Argentine history.

Capt. Silverio Brizuela went down with his riverboat. Reports that he blew out his brains as the boat was sinking could not be confirmed immediately.

Crewmen of the American freighter were seized when the ship docked here late Wednesday, about 18 hours after the collision. Capt. Kenneth Sommers, of San Francisco, was hustled off to Coast Guard headquarters for questioning by Federal Judge Miguel del Castillo.

The Mormacsurf, outward bound from Rosario with a cargo of Argentine grain, and the river boat collided about 11 p.m. Tuesday near the point where the Parana and Uruguay rivers flow together to form the estuary.

First reports that all of the 224 persons aboard the riverboat were rescued were contradicted Wednesday. The Coast Guard reported 94 persons "missing," and other estimates placed the toll as high as 112.

The City of Buenos Aires was on the way from here to the riverport of Concepcion, 150 miles north of Buenos Aires, at the time of the wreck. It sank in 26 feet of water.

Donora Zinc Workers to Get Million in Jobless Benefits

About $1,000,000 in supplemental unemployment benefits will be paid to 460 employes at the Donora Zinc Works who will lose their jobs when the plant closes around Nov. 1.

That was the estimate made by United Steelworker officials during a mass meeting of Zinc Works employes last night at Donora High School.

Eugene Maurice, USW District 13 director, praised U. S. Steel officials for their "forthright approach in setting a shutdown date which would give maximum benefits to the affected employes."

The plant will not close until November. The supplemental unemployment benefits will take effect on Sept. 1 under the contract negotiated last summer.

Actually, in the Zinc Works settlement, the employes are taking advantage of SUB as against severance pay — an option provided in the contract where a plant is permanently shut down.

Severance pay introduced in union contracts many years ago, amounts to from four to eight weeks wages, depending on seniority. SUB totals roughly 65 per cent of take home pay (including in Pennsylvania $35 per week for 30 weeks unemployment compensation) for up to 52 weeks.

It is estimated that the 460 eligible for SUB at Donora can receive some $1800 in benefits from the U. S. Steel SUB trust fund, plus $1000 in state unemployment compensation, for approximately one year from the closing of the plant in November.

For the duration of regular state unemployment compensation these workers will receive the difference between 65 percent of their after-tax straight-time weekly wage and the $35 unemployment compensation, less than any other earnings, but disregarding $6 of such earnings from the U. S. Steel SUB Trust Fund. This SUB will average about $23.50 per week with a maximum of $33. This will continue for 30 weeks. Then state unemployment compensation will have been exhausted.

The slack will then be taken up by SUB which will rise to $47.50 per week, plus $2 per dependent up to four dependents, or a maximum payment of $55.50 weekly. This can continue for an additional 22 weeks.

Through SUB many employes acquire improved pension rights which become operative on November 1.

For example, under the agreement signed last year workers can, beginning Nov. 1, 1957, elect to take an actuarially computed pension on reaching the age of 60 instead of 65. There are now 28 workers at age 58 or 59. These men will now be permitted to take SUB for a year, and then upon reaching age 60 go on pension.

There are 62 workers between

115 Pupils Enroll in Catholic High School

About 115 students have enrolled in the freshmen class of the new Monongahela Valley Catholic High School, it was announced today by the Rev. Philip A. Campbell, principal.

The students will begin their studies next Tuesday in five separate locations; two in Donora and one each in Charleroi, Ellsworth and Monongahela.

This class, together with their successors of one year, will move into the new million-dollar building now under construction on the Coyle - Curtain Rd. midway between Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela. That school is scheduled to open its doors in time for the 1958-59 term.

The faculty for the coming term will be made up of Father Campbell, who will teach religion and eleven nuns from five different religious communities and one lay person.

Classes will be conducted at elementary parochial schools in the various towns. These schools have added ninth grade for one year.

All pupils have been enrolled in the pro-college course, but they will have an opportunity to choose one of several courses when classes begin in the new building a year from now.

Father Campbell said the educational objective of the new Catholic High School is to "train young people so that they might be worthy citizens of the country and their community and someday worthy citizens of the Eternal Home for which they have been created."

Kefauver Blasts U.S. Steel for Hiking Prices

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver today attacked U.S. Steel Corp. for hiking its steel price $6 a ton with the knowledge that its "so-called competitors" would follow the lead.

Kefauver said concentration of control in the steel industry is increasing.

The Tennessee Democrat, chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, told the Senate in a prepared speech that "the whole matter of costs and prices requires further investigation." This committee has been looking into the steel price hike for several weeks.

Kefauver accused U.S. Steel of refusing to give the subcommittee a breakdown of its cost figures despite a promise that the figures of no single steel firm would be disclosed.

However, he said, "it is obvious" that there is a substantial gap" between the company's July $6 a ton price increase and the amount by which its wage costs increased. The gap ranges from $2.75 to $3.50 per ton, he said.

Prices 'Identical'

Kefauver said the record shows that U.S. Steel and at least one other major steel producer quoted prices to a government purchasing agency which were "precisely identical."

The central fact concerning competition in the industry, he said, is that "when U.S. steel raises it price, it does so with the almost certain knowledge, based on years of experience, that its so-called competitors will make the same increase."

U.S. Steel Board Chairman Roger Blough explained these identical bids during the hearings by claiming that "price that matches another price is a competitive price . . . in the steel industry we know it is so."

The July increase by steel producers cost direct buyers of steel a total of 540 million dollars, Kefauver said.

And the total average price increase during the last 12 months —$19.50 a ton—has increased the cost to steel buyers by 1.6 billion dollars.

Kefauver noted that since U.S. Steel makes up about 30 per cent of the industry, its revenues as a result of these increases is about 500 million dollars more a year.

When the steel price inquiry resumes in October, Kefauver said its first witness would be the Bethlehem Steel Corp.

He added that investigation into the "administered price" system would be extended to the farm machinery industry following the steel hearings.

ice station and grocery store at Sutersville, taking general merchandise which was valued at about $10 to $15.

Last Monday, Laatu and Manor were accompanied by Tellop to Vesta Park, near Dunlevy, police said. In the secluded parking area, known as Lovers Lane, the trio allegedly pulled a gun on Robert Biagini Jr., of Charleroi, and relieved him of his wallet.

They raced a short distance when they realized that the wallet contained no money. They returned to the parked car, but Biagini and a companion had already fled on foot.

According to police, Manor drove off in the Biagini car with Laatu and Tellep following in the Oldsmobile.

Near Belle Vernon, Manor wrecked, causing damages estimated at $300. He was pulled from the car by Laatu and Tellep and the trio moved on.

They were getting gas at a station in Donora when picked up shortly after midnight Tuesday by Donora police. They said they were headed west.

Today Laatu and Manor pleaded guilty to burglary at Gary's Drive-In, stealing the car from H. and B. and stealing the car at Vesta. Tellep also pleaded guilty to the Vesta auto theft. Manor and Tellep entered guilty pleas to armed robbery at Vesta.

All three faced charges of violating the uniform firearms act in the Donora hearing. Police said they found a .32 caliber pistol owned by Telep at the time of the arrest.

Forward Twp. Police Chief George Hines said he also wants the youths for allegedly forging checks in the amount of $180, using Laatu's father's signature, and passing them on Pete Vaira, a service station operator.

State Police said the boys may also be questioned for other crimes.

age 60 and 64, who also can take SUB for a year and then switch to the pension plan. The eight workers above 65 years of age can go on pension in November, or elect to take SUB first, which is even more advantageous for them.

There are in addition 36 workers at age 38 or 39. Under last year's pension agreement workers with 15 years seniority can at age 40 acquire vested pension rights to be paid out beginning at age 65. These workers can take SUB for one year, then acquire vested pension rights from U. S. Steel.

Thereafter they can go to work for any other company and when they reach 65, they will begin drawing a pension from U. S. Steel. Very possibly they will also have earned a pension from their new employer as well. Some employes have 13 or 14 years of service. SUB will enable them to acquire the minimum of 15 years of service for vested pension rights.

U. S. Steel pension for all of these workers will be computed at $2.40 per month multiplied by their years of service up to a maximum of 30 years or $72 per month, or one per cent of their average monthly salary for the last 10 years multiplied by the number of years of service, minus $85. Of course, at age 65, one also becomes entitled to a social security benefit of up to $108.50 per month.

Finally, by virtue of taking SUB into 1958, employes will be entitled to vacation pay for next year even though the plant shall have been shut down.

The understanding announced in Donora last night has been put into writing. It was negotiated by officials of the Donora Zinc Works and the American Steel & Wire Division of U. S. Steel, on the employer side, and a union committee consisting of District Director Maurice, Staff Representative George Kutska and local union officials, assisted by representatives of the international union's pension, insurance and SUB department.

Perry Como's Children Threatened Over Phone

SANDS POINT, N.Y. (UP)—Quick thinking by the wife of singer Perry Como Wednesday led to the arrest of a religious candle salesman who allegedly threatened by phone to kill the Comos' three children.

The alleged caller, Joseph Tito, 32, of Astoria, N.Y., was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge and later committed to a mental hospital for observation.

Mrs. Roselle Como told police a man, believed to be Tito, telephoned the Como home shortly before dawn asking to speak with the singer. When Mrs. Como told him her husband was out of town, the caller allegedly said:

"You better get in touch with him and tell him to bring the three children to me or they won't see the sun rise again."

While continuing to talk on the phone, Mrs. Como signalled to one of her children to notify police to have the call traced. Later, she told police the caller sounded like a salesman who had been calling at the Como home trying to sell religious candles.

Police traced the call to a public phone booth in Astoria and soon picked up Tito near his home. Authorities said he could give no explanation for the call.

The Comos have two boys, 17 and 11, and a girl, 10.

Como was visiting at his mother's home in Canonsburg, Pa. He was informed of the incident by telephone. In the afternoon he played golf at the Mt. Lebanon Country Club near Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The FBI got its woman Wednesday—after a 20-day search.

Eileen M. Graves, 37, Pittsburgh was arrested on bail jumping and forgery charges.

$33,000 Parts Burial Probed

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate investigators called an Air Force warrant officer today to explain charges that he buried $33,000 worth of surplus spare parts in the Arctic.

A spokesman for the Senate Investigating subcommittee identified the witness at the morning hearing as 29-year-old warrant officer Benny Wilks.

The spare parts interred at Sondrestrom Air Force Base in Greenland were part of 44 million dollars in surplus parts and equipment which the Defense Department says accumulated at nine Arctic bases of the Northeast Air Command. The subcommittee wants to know how and why the excess material piled up and what became of it.

Identical Bills Filed To Help Coal Industry

WASHINGTON (UP)—Identical bills to set up a new agency to aid the coal industry were filed by Pennsylvanians Wednesday in the House and Senate.

The bills were authored by Rep. John Saylor, Johnstown Republican, and Sens. Edward Martin, Republican, and Joseph S. Clark, Democrat.

They call for the creation of a Coal Research and Development Commission to promote and coordinate all coal research in the country.

The commission's three members would be appointed by the President and would be given an initial appropriation of two million dollars.

Research under the program would be conducted by government personnel or meted out to private educational or industrial research groups.

The purpose of the legislation is to find ways of reducing the competitive disadvantage of coal by discovering new uses, mining techniques and transportation methods. The bills also seek to have the depletion allowance for tax purposes of coal raised from the present 10 per cent to 27.5 per cent enjoyed by the gas and oil industries.

It also would seek to halt the dumping of residual fuel oil in coastal cities at less than sound economic prices. Residual oil is practically a waste product to the oil industry and can be sold very cheaply, cutting into coal's boiler fuel market in port cities.

Backs Disarmament

NEW DELHI (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told a parliamentary foreign affairs committee Wednesday Soviet production of an intercontinental ballistic missile and the possibility of Western countries manufacturing still more dangerous weapons has made the need for an immediate disarmament agreement imperative.

Moon Appeal to Death Sentence

HARRISBURG (UP) — A convicted killer of a Warren County judge will appeal his death sentence to the state Pardons Board Sept. 17.

Attorneys for Norman W. Moon will ask the board to commute his sentence to life imprisonment. Moon is scheduled to die in the electric chair Sept. 30.

The slayer was convicted of killing Judge Allison D. Wade in a county courtroom January, 1954. The state Supreme Court recently upheld a lower court ruling and refused to grant Moon a new trial.

A sanity commission appointed by the court said Moon was "mentally ill" and should have been confined to an institution. The court rejected the commission report and ordered Moon's execution.

West Asks Russia to Agree to Nuclear Ban

Would Exempt Those Used for Defense Purposes

LONDON (UP) — The Western allies asked Russia today to agree to a ban on nuclear weapons, except for defense purposes, as part of a "package" first step disarmament plan.

Formal Soviet rejection appeared certain in advance.

The 10-page document was handed to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin at what might be the final effective session of the five-month-old London disarmament conference.

All the provisions had been outlined orally previously during the negotiations here and Zorin rejected the key points this week.

The Western plan was made public simultaneously here and in Washington.

It wrapped up previous allied proposals for halting nuclear bomb testing, stopping production of nuclear bomb materials, reducing dangers of surprise attack and reducing the world's major armed forces and armed supplies.

The United States immediately issued a separate appeal to the Soviet Union to accept the plan as a "practical, workable" way to start on the problem of world disarmament.

Hope For Consideration

"The Western allies earnestly hope the Soviet Union will give full consideration to this far-reaching proposal," the State Department said. "Soviet acceptance will enable a start to be made toward removing the terrible dangers of nuclear war that hang over the whole world."

Outlook for Soviet acceptance of the Western plan, was regarded as extremely dim. Only on Wednesday President Eisenhower expressed deep disappointment that the Soviet Union was using "scornful words" and making "boastful statements" even before the allied plan was presented in London.

Eisenhower warned that hasty Soviet rejection of the Western proposals "would condemn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger." He went on to say that the United States, for its part, would continue its efforts to seek a just and lasting peace.

Besides wrapping up its previously disclosed proposals, the West's "working paper" had an important new provision.

Limits Nuclear Use

The plan calls for signatories to a first step arms agreement to agree "not to use nuclear weapons" unless an armed attack requires counter-defensive action This is in line with Article 51 of the United Natons Charter which provides for individual or collective self defense.

A related new proposal would permit the transfer of nuclear weapons as part of an agreement to use them only for defensive purposes.

Pythian Lodge Hears Report On Convention

A report of the Grand Lodge convention held last week by the Knights of Pythias Lodge in Pittsburgh highlighted last night's meeting of the local lodge in the Pythian Hall.

Grand Trustee Anthony C. Laneve, who represented the local lodge at the session, was re-elected for a term of three years to his grand office. He reported on the banquet highlighting the convention.

Speakers were Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence and Supreme Secretary Melvin M. Ewen. A tour of Pittsburgh, entertainment by a WEDO radio group and the business sessions were on the convention agenda. Charles Dunn of Canonsburg was elected Grand Chancellor replacing Ralph Marshall of Pittsburgh, who presided at the sessions.

Last night the men completed plans for the corn roast in which they will join the Pythian Sisters on Tuesday, Sept. 3 at Shelter 3 at City Park. Members of both groups and their families may attend. Each is to provide his own table service. In case of inclement weather the event will be in the Pythian Center. Further information on the outing may be obtained by calling MU 4-5871.

Miss Kinder plans to enter the Music Education curriculum, majoring in voice. Classes begin on Sept. 10.

Dora is a graduate of Charleroi Senior High School.

Trolley Strike Plans Ready in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A metropolitan Pittsburgh transit strike definitely will be called this weekend "unless something unforeseen takes place," trolley-bus union leaders warned today.

The 2,200 trolley and bus operators of the Pittsburgh Railways Company have authorized a strike to start after midnight Saturday when their current contract expires. Talks on a new contract are deadlocked.

With the deadline near, railroads today began preparing for the heavy commuter traffic that will fall their way during a strike.

The Pennsylvania and Baltimore add extra trains and coaches to regular runs as they did in the 34-day strike in 1954. Schedules of & Ohio railroads said they would the extra runs have been prepared and will be made public before next week.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, which carries few commuters, planned no extra runs. A spokesman said, however, the road was considering more stops at McKees Rocks if the service were needed.

Full effects of a transit strike would not be felt until Tuesday, since Monday is Labor Day and most commercial business will be shut down.

It appeared that federal Mediator G. Harry Young and state Conciliator Joe Bach would continue holding separate talks, at least until Friday, with the company and Division 85, Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes. The two conciliators in Pittsburgh since Monday have not yet met with both sides in joint session.

Gilbert A. Feltel, business representative of Division 85, said "we are definitely going out Sunday morning unless something unforeseen takes place."

The trolley and bus operators, whose present average hourly rate is $2.14, rejected a company offer of a wage increase of 10 cents an hour, spread over two years, plus incorporation of a present 4 cents an hour cost-of-living adjustment into the basic rate. The offer was contingent on obtaining state approval of a penny increase in fares.

Manu-Mine Told To Bring Records To Hearing

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, was under court order today to produce certain financial records at a hearing next week.

Judge Karl E. Richards ruled Wednesday that a subpena obtained by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission for the records was in order and they must be presented at a hearing Sept. 4 on the agency's petition to have the firm's assets placed in receivership.

The commission is suing Manu-Mine for 11 million dollars, charging the bulk of that amount was obtained through a fraudulent contract for mine filling work under the Northeastern Extension.

Five men were convicted in Dauphin County court recently of conspiracy to fleece the commission of almost 20 million dollars through the project, which the state contended was "unnecessary work." Among them were top officials of Manu-Mine.

Local Attorney On Army's Judge Advocate Staff

Renald A. Manetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Manetti, 320 Sixth St., Monessen, has been commissioned a first lieutenant at Fort Benning, Ga.

He has been assigned as assistant staff judge advocate at the Fort.

Before entering the service, Lieutenant Manetti was a member of the legal department of the United States Steel Corporation in New York City.

He was graduated from Monessen High School in 1949 and earned a degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1953. In 1956, he graduated from the Harvard Law School.

He is a member of the New York bar.

Lieutenant Manetti is married to Mary Gorman Manetti, who resides at 1228 Lockwood Ave. in Columbus, Ga.

Automakers Are Ordering Flat Steel Products

NEW YORK (UP)—Automakers are starting to order flat-rolled steel products for 1958 model runs, Iron Age said today.

The authoritative trade magazine said mills are "moderately concerned" about their big customers' reluctance to provide much lead time in their ordering pattern.

"A slight squeeze in cold-rolled sheet may develop in October if big tonnage orders start to flood steel sales offices," the magazine said.

"But to date, nothing like that has happened and there is still open space on the books for most steel products," the metalworking weekly said.

Dave Beck to Face Tax Charges Early Next Year

TACOMA, Wash. (UP)—Dave Beck, international president of the Teamsters Union, probably will go on trial here early next year on two charges of evading some $240,000 in federal income tax over a four-year period.

The portly union leader was charged Wednesday by a federal grand jury with failure to report $254,000 in income calling for $184,000 in taxes during the period 1951-53. His son, Dave Beck Jr., and four others also were indicted.

It was expected this charge would be consolidated with another handed down last May 2 by the same jury accusing Beck of evading $56,000 in taxes for 1950.

Indicted with Beck and his son were Norman Gessert, general organizer for the union Fred Verschueren Sr., the union's auditor; Nathan Shefferman, a Chicago labor relations consultant, and Shefferman's son, Shelton.

The men are scheduled for arraignment before Federal District Judge John C. Bowen Sept. 12. Beck's bond was set at $25.000 with $5,000 for the other defendants.

Beck, in Los Angeles for a meeting of the Teamsters' Executive Board, said he was "not surprised" at the indictment, "but I certainly am not guilty."

"I never made out my own income tax. I hired public accountants to do it. If mistakes were made, they made them," he said.

Safety Council Pleads with Nation's Drivers

CHICAGO (UP) — The National Safety Council today challenged the nation's motorists to make the organization's 420-traffic death estimate for the Labor Day weekend "ridiculously high."

"We did it on Memorial Day. We did it on the Fourth of July. We can do it again over Labor Day" Council President Ned Dearborn said.

The council observed that cooperation between drivers and law enforcement agencies had held down the traffic toll on the two previous holiday weekends to what might be considered normal for non-holiday periods of equal length.

"If we can do as well over the three-day labor holiday weekend" Dearborn said, "holiday traffic deaths can be held to 375 or fewer.

"But the cold figures indicate that unless extra care is used to meet the extra holiday hazards, the last big holiday traffic jam of the vacation season could bring death to 420 persons in the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday."

An early start, patience on the highway, and avoidance of alcohol while driving were offered as hints for holding down the death toll.

"Nothing would make us happier" than to see council's estimate "ridiculously high," Dearborn said.

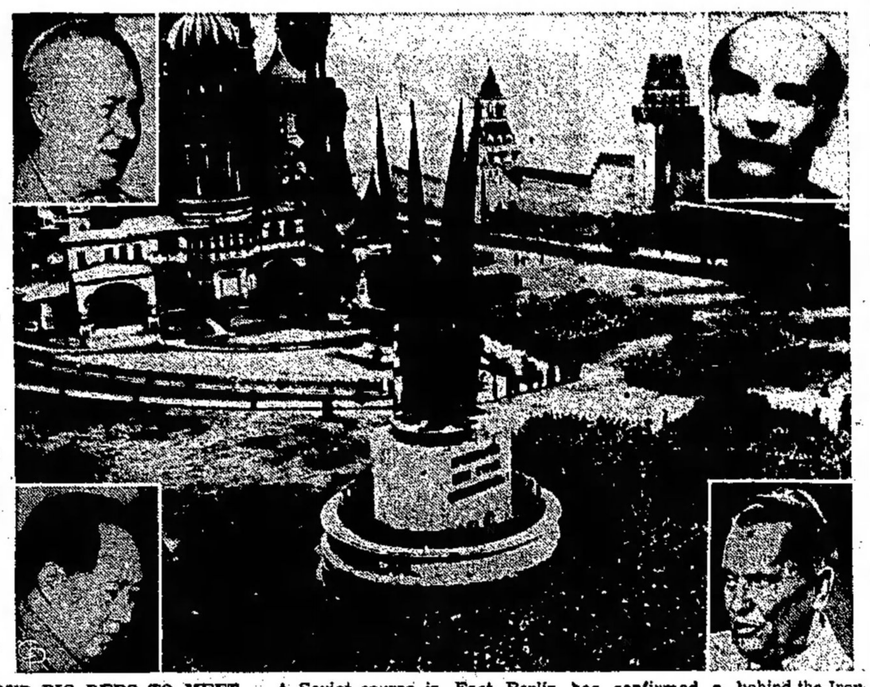
U. S. Steel Chief Not Pessimistic

NEW YORK (UP) — Clifford F. Hood, president of U.S. Steel Corp., said Wednesday he sees no reason for being pessimistic about the nation's 1958 economic outlook.

Hood, conversing with reporters prior to sailing to Europe, declined to make any predictions about the economic outlook next year.

However, he said, "with the growth in the population and the national income increasing, I see no reason for pessimism in 1958."

He predicted the steel industry this year would match last year's 115-million-ton production, the second best in history.



FOUR BIG REDS TO MEET — A Soviet source in East Berlin has confirmed a behind-the-Iron-Curtain report that a big four Communist conference will be held in Moscow in Mid-November, ostensibly to observe the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Attending will be Nikita Khrushchev (top left), Russia; Wladyslaw Gomulka (top right), Poland; Mao Tse-tung (lower left), Red China, and Marshal Tito (lower right), Yugoslavia. Informants said Khrushchev called the conference, first among the four, to discuss (1) restoration of friendly relation between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union and (2) a means of maintaining unity of Communist nations despite ideological differences. Also shown is Red Square in Moscow during a previous anniversary celebration.

State Studies Regulation to Safeguard the Migratory Worker

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Industrial Board today studied proposed new regulations aimed at safeguarding the rights and working conditions of migratory workers in Pennsylvania.

The five-member board, headed by William L. Batt Jr., secretary of Labor and Industry took it under advisement Wednesday following a public hearing here. The additional requirements were drafted by an Interdepartmental Committee on Mirgratory Labor named by Gov. George M. Leader.

More than a dozen farmers and farmer leaders spoke out against the proposed regulations, terming them "unfair" and "not practical."

State Grange Master J. Cillins McSparran charged the proposed rules would virtually "hamstring" farmers who rely on migratory labor. He said the regulations were unfair because the state did not try to regulate the living conditions of employes of other industries.

An attorney for the Allegheny Mountain Vegetable Growers Cooperative, composed of some 60 bean farmers in Potter, McKean and Tioga counties, termed the proposed regulations "not practical." Robert Lewis, Coudersport, said the cooperative members were mostly concerned with how the regulations would be enforced. Lewis said some farmers might lose their license to employ migratory workers during the middle of a harvest season if state inspectors ruled their operations did not meet the new standards.

Representatives of small farmers requested the new regulations be redrafted to modify some items which they charged would "work a hardship" on them.

The new regulations would generally tighten up health and living standards at migratory labor camps, require licensing of crew leaders and camps and provide additional heating, washing and laboratory facilities. If approved, they would go into effect Oct. 1.

Final action on the regulations will be made at the board's next meeting on Sept. 26. Batt said he was "gratified" at the attendance during the six-hour hearing. He said about 60 persons appeared.

"The board will study, digest and give full consideration to the suggestion made by those who testified at the hearing," Batt said. "Postponement of final action was one of the suggestions made by several persons attending the hearing."

Glass Contract Talks Resumed In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Contract negotiations between the American Flint Glass Workers Union and 31 firms employing 2,000 skilled moldmakers resumed here today. The present contract expires Aug. 31.

A 10-day strike last year by the moldmakers, who average $2.50 per hour, idled an estimated 50,000 other workers in the glass industry.

Federal Mediator William Rose, Philadelphia, sat in on the talks.

The union is seeking a five per cent increase in the first year of a requested two-year contract, followed by a four per cent hike plus additional fringe benefits in the second year.

The manufacturers have offered a two-year contract providing a three and one half per cent increase the first year and a two per cent boost the second, plus shift differentials, an improved pension program and other benefits.

Negotiations between the union and the Glass Container Manufacturers Assn., broke off here last week. The negotiators had met in Atlantic City earlier this summer.

New Television Channel 11 on Air with Pattern

Pittsburgh's newest television station — WIIC, Channel 11 — went on the air yesterday with a test pattern.

However station officials said viewers will not receive the quality signal until Sunday afternoon when the NBC-TV affiliate goes on the air "officially."

WIIC engineers are still testing the 100,000 watt transmitter and the test pattern may be off periodically while adjustments are made. They also report that the test pattern will be transmitted at only about 20 per cent of WIIC's normal power.

The station's transmitter is the first of its kind built by RCA to overcome the difficult terrain features of western Pennsylvania. A specially-designed helical antenna will sit atop the 800 foot tower giving it an overall height of 842 feet. As a result, engineers predict shadow areas in the WIIC Channel 11 coverage area will be virtually eliminated.

The test patterns will be on daily from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. until the regular programming begins Sunday at 5 p. m.

Bellmarette Additions Described by Officials

Bellmarette school officials today described the type of additions which were approved last week for the Bellmar High School and Marion Junior High School.

The additions will be financed through the State School Building Authority. The overall cost will be $638,729.62.

The high school addition, scheduled to be completed by October of next year, will include two class rooms, a science room, homemaking room, music room, student activity room, conference room, two faculty rooms and a gymnasium.

The gym will seat about 1,000 persons and will have one of the largest playing courts in the district.

The old Bellmar gym will be converted into a cafeteria.

At Marrion, the addition will include two science rooms, an art-craft room, library, studet activity room, cafeteria, health suite, two faculty rooms and an administrative suite Construction is to be completed by September of 1958.

Robert VanBremen, supervising principal for the Bellmarette district, said that the additions will provide the jointure with two completely modern junior high plants and a modern senior high school.

The Bellmarette Board also disclosed that plans are being discussed for a large elementary school to serve the district.

Mistaken Policy

IN THE COURSE of electing a new solicitor Tuesday evening, members of the Monessen school board were reported to have agreed "informally" to rotate this position every two years, presumably among all local attorneys.

This suggests to us that the directors either want to dodge the responsibility of choosing the best qualified attorney from the available applicants or that they think one lawyer is about as good as another. Whatever the reasoning behind this policy, we think it's mistaken.

People who have responsibilities in education ought to appreciate, perhaps better than the rest of us, that we lose something that is essential in a free society when we try to ignore variations in individual ability and performance. Indeed, it is our stress upon the worth of the individual that distinguishes American democracy from the regimented systems.

The assumption that one lawyer is as good as another is in keeping with the assumption, already too prevalent in public education, that one teacher is as good as another. The Communists go a step further and, by a process known as thought control, make even artists and writers appear to be all alike.

In our view, the United States has had too much of this levelling-off business already. And even in small matters we ought to be resisting it lest it deaden the spirit which has been the genius of America.

We feel sure our school directors did not think about these things when they adopted their policy the other evening. No doubt their intention is simply to be fair in doling out the annual stipend of the solicitor. But even though they did so unwittingly, they fell into an attitude that has no place in American education.

Outside Help

WESTMORELAND County Republicans have advised Judge Samuel A. Weiss of Allegheny County to stay out of the Westmoreland judicial campaign this fall. It's good advice, and he ought to accept it for his own good.

However, his forthcoming appearance as toastmaster for a dinner in behalf of the Democratic candidates for judge, points up very handily what we believe to be one of the central issues of the campaign.

Judge Weiss has the reputation in his own county of being what is known as a "political judge". In fact, he had to apologize publicly a few months ago for partisan activity which was decidedly contrary to judicial ethics.

So it would be quite appropriate in a sense to have him come to Westmoreland County and lecture the voters here on the kind of judges they should select. He would be most likely to recommend judges who, like himself, would not mind mixing politics with the administration of justice.

But Westmoreland County has had too many political judges already. And the Democratic courthouse machine is attempting in this election to give it more of the same — only worse. It's natural that the machine bosses would call in a political judge from a neighboring county to give them a hand.

McCarthy Lives on

THE VICTORY of William Proxmire, the Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator in Wisconsin, over former Governor Kohler, an Eisenhower Republican, was large enough so that it probably cannot be attributed to any one factor or issue. Maybe it's a sufficient explanation to say that Proxmire won because he got more votes than Kohler.

But at least one factor seems to have been conspicuous. And that is the extent to which the adherents of the late Senator Joe McCarthy were willing to support a Democratic candidate in preference to an Eisenhower Republican.

This would be a spite vote, pure and simple. On the philosophical scale, Mr. Proxmire undoubtedly would be found considerably to the left of Governor Kohler. Yet the McCarthyites, supposedly dyed-in-the-wool conservative Republicans, apparently went for Proxmire rather than a candidate with a sound Republican record but who happened to share President Eisenhower's concept of the mission of the Republican party.

But such are the quirks of American politics.

It is to be hoped, though, that Mr. Proxmire doesn't have to carry to Washington the burden of even a diluted version of McCarthyism.

Merry-Go-Round—

Lady Senator Beats Brass Of Air Force

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, only lady Senator, has now won her battle with the Air Force.

She has blocked the promotion of Air Force glamor boy Jimmy Stewart, who played the part of Lindbergh in "The Spirit of St. Louis," to be a brigadier general. She also blocked the promotion of John Montgomery, vice president of General Electric.

Mr. Pearson

How she did it is a little-known story of one lady, plus a determined assistant, against the brass hats.

The backstage battle got rough at times. Air Force propagandists accused Mrs. Smith's assistant, Bill Lewis, of holding up other promotions because he was not promoted himself. They also put out stories that Mrs. Smith was irked because she wanted to be commander of the WAFS in time of war and the Air Force turned her down.

It was also intimated that Mrs. Smith wanted to extend her own reserve commission as a colonel in the WAFS, which expires automatically Dec. 14 when she reaches the age of 60 — first, because she didn't want her age known, and second, because she wanted continuing reservist pay. This was obviously erroneous because Mrs. Smith has made no secret about her age, spells it out in Who's Who for everyone to read.

Real fact is that Senator Smith is the author of the Reserve Personnel Act, contends past wars have been won 90 per cent by the reserves, that their training in peacetime must be thorough.

Mrs. Smith Digs

So when the Air Force recommended 11 officers for promotion for brigadier or major generals, Mrs. Smith discovered they included big-shot executives who hadn't handled an airplane for years. She and her assistant did what the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has not done with ambassadors, such as Maxwell Gluck. She dug into the background of every officer.

In doing so, she caught the head of Air Force personnel, Lt. Gen. Emmett "Rosie" O'Donnell, in many misstatements of fact and cracked down on him for wanting to change 43 of the 49 pages of testimony in answer to Mrs. Smith; five of six pages in answer to Senator Stennis of Mississippi; three out of three pages in answer to Senator Barrett of Wyoming; and two out of four pages in answer to Chairman Russell of Georgia.

Mrs Smith sent the testimony back telling O'Donnell bragged that he had kicked 68,000 men out of the reserves because their training wasn't good enough.

"In view of this severity," queried Senator Smith, "why are you promoting Brig. Gen. Robert L. Smith, whose record isn't good enough either?"

Lyndon's Friend

She referred to the good friend of Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas who is president of Pioneer Air Lines of Dallas. He had only one 15-day tour of duty in eight years, Mrs. Smith pointed out, in direct violation of Air Force Reserve requirements. General O'Donnell, however, tried to show that Mrs. Smith was wrong.

"Senator Smith," he flared up, "General Smith was on duty Dec. 10 to Dec 31, 1956."

"I don't see that on the records supplied by the Air Force" commented Margaret.

"Dec. 10 to Dec. 31," emphasized O'Donnell with great vigor, implying that the lady Senator didn't know what she was talking about.

She did. He didn't. When the transcript of O'Donnell's testimony came back, he had deleted his answers. Mrs. Smith refused to allow the deletion.

Mrs. Smith pressed O'Donnell to explain the double standard for reserves which fired 68,000 reservists but promoted an airline executive despite his training record. He replied:

"Well, even though he hasn't so many points, he is in the airline business."

NOTE — As a courtesy to Lyndon Johnson, Smith's promotion was finally okayed by the Armed Services Committee.

Helped His Taxes

Senator Smith also pointed out that John Alison of Northrup Aircraft had not done a single 15-day tour of duty in nine years. However, he was finally okayed for promotion.

Not so another business executive, J. B. Montgomery, who retired from the Air Force as a temporary major general to take a lush salary with American Airlines, but who now wants to come back into the Air Force as a reserve officer, thereby drawing double pay.

Mrs. Smith did some digging, found this would be a bonanza to Colonel Montgomery income taxwise; that this was why he hadn't taken his regular retirement pay when he left the Air Force.

Mrs. Smith won. Montgomery was denied his promotion.

Today and Tomorrow—

Mr. Dulles and the Press

By WALTER LIPPMANN

It may be that Mr. Dulles is, as he says, now willing to let a limited group of American correspondents go to Red China for a trial period of seven months. Yet, it is fair to say that he would not be inconsolable if they did not go. For in making his offer he attached to it the one condition most likely to provoke Red China into refusing to admit the American correspondents.

Mr. Drummond

He will allow 24 American correspondents representing leading newspapers, news magazines, and broadcasting companies to go to Red China. But no Chinese newspapermen are to come to the United States. So, unless Red China swallows her pride and acknowledges to the world that the United States is entitled to preferential treatment, the American correspondents will not be able to go to Red China.

But then as Mr. Dulles may conceivably have foreseen, he can argue that it is the Red Chinese and not he who prevent the American press from gathering news on the Chinese mainland. He can even be disappointed and indignant at these totalitarians who do not believe in freedom of the press.

Statement Challenged

Whether or not the Dulles proposal is actually put into effect, or was meant to be, the statement issued by the Department of State last Thursday must be challenged. The terms of this proposal affirm, and if acquiesced in, would establish as a precedent a new and hitherto entirely un-American conception of the right and duty of the press. Mr. Dulles is making the claim that outside the three-mile limit he may treat the press as an instrument of foreign policy, and that the American press in foreign countries is subject to the paramount control of the Secretary of State.

This claim to power is contained in the text of the statement. Having reminded us that it has been the policy of the Secretary of State not to authorize — in fact, not to permit — American newspapermen to go, even at their own risk, to the Chinese mainland, Mr. Dulles goes on to say that he has changes his mind. He now finds it "desirable that additional information be made available to the American people respecting current conditions in China."

Now, by what right, and on what principle, does he claim to have the power to decide how much information it is "desirable" for the American people to have? We have here the unprecedented and impertinent assertion that the right to turn off and the right to turn on the tap of news is one of the prerogatives of the Secretary of State.

Usurpation of Power

This is followed by a truly remarkable declaration, one which will have to be examined thoroughly by all who are concerned with the security and the integrity of the American press. "The Secretary of State has accordingly determined that it may prove consistent with the foreign policy of the United States that there be travel by a limited number of American news reporters to the mainland of China." This is, I submit, a usurpation of power which has never before been vested in the Secretary of State — the power to determine whether, when, where and under what conditions, the American press may gather and report news in foreign countries.

Surely, in the American way of life it is for the editors to determine whether, when and where news is available that should be reported, and it is entirely impossible to accept the principle that Mr. Dulles, Mr. Walter Robertson, and Mr. Berding have any right or power to regulate the reporting of news. They can warn newspapermen that it may be dangerous to go to a place like Red China, and that the Department of State cannot help them if they get into trouble. But if the editor and the reporter accept the risk, it is not for the Department of State to decide whether it likes or it does not like to have them go.

Press Is Independent

The essential difference between a free press and a totalitarian press lies exactly here: that in a free country the press is not an instrument of the government's policy. It is an independent instrument to enable the people to understand and to judge policy, to help them make or to help them unmake policy.

Last week's declaration from the State Department denies that in foreign affairs there is such a thing as an independent press. It claims a paramount right to decide whether there shall be more or less news reported from China. It asserts the right to decide what kind of correspondents may go to China — in this case, the correspondents must be "resident," and not special correspondents on special assignments, as, for example, Mr. Joseph Alsop or Mr. Edward Murrow. It asserts the right to judge "experimentally" the news reported from China during the trial period of six months. Thus an American correspondent who goes to the mainland is to have two bosses — his editor and Mr. Dulles.

All this, it may be said, discloses the fact that Mr. Dulles has an imperfect grasp of the principles of a free press in a free society.

Republicans Hurt by Defeat in Wisconsin

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — Wisconsin's senatorial election returns have hit the Republicans where it hurts.

They counted on winning the Wisconsin Senate seat to keep them on the threshold of control of the Senate. They would take over if and when an act of God enabled a Republican governor to appoint a senator to replace a Democrat who died.

Mr. Lahr

Instead, the victory of Democrat William Proxmire over former GOP Gov. Walter J. Kohler gave Senate Democrats welcome insurance that they would retain control of the Senate until after the 1958 elections. And they rate as favorites to stay in command after 1958.

Kohler Backed Ike

The Republicans can blame their defeat on Wisconsin's strange breed of politics. Otherwise, they must hunt for alibis based on a party split, stay-at-home voters, throat - cutting by conservative Republicans and continuing GOP trouble in the farm belt.

Tuesday's special election in Wisconsin was held to fill the vacant seat of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who was no admirer of President Eisenhower.

Kohler is an Eisenhower Republican, a former three-term governor, who won the senatorial nomination by polling less than a majority of the primary vote against a field of conservative or anti-administration Republicans.

Long before the primary, it was easy to find conservative Republicans in Wisconsin who would argue that Kohler would be a weak candidate. Now they can say, "We told you so."

A Different Story

It has been less than 10 months since Eisenhower carried Wisconsin by a landslide majority of more than 60 per cent of the vote. At the same time, Sen. Alexander Wiley, an Eisenhower Republican was reelected by polling 58 per cent.

Now, 14 months before the 1958 congressional elections, Proxmire has polled close to 60 per cent of a much lighter vote and put a Democrat in a Wisconsin Senate seat for the first time since 1932.

While the Republicans may find it impossible to write off the Wisconsin results as meaningless, the Democrats may have trouble determining just why they won. Party managers had viewed the election—without much optimism—as the first test of the issue they think will overshadow all others in 1958. That issue is tight money and the rising cost of living.

But they did not think that the Proxmire campaign had thoroughly exploited the issue. Maybe it didn't need to be exploited.

The Democrats also want to keep the farm issue alive against the Eisenhower administration and they may be doing just that. It was in Wisconsin four years ago that they elected a Democrat to a House seat from a farm district where they had made an insignificant showing for years.

Without the Eisenhower name on the ballot Tuesday, Proxmire outpolled Kohler in most of the rural districts of Wisconsin.

The Woman's View—

Nurse Remembers Flu Scourge of 1918

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Edward Rostetter remembers the 1918-1919 flu epidemic as the worst experience in her 41 years as a nurse.

"But there was one good thing about it," she said today. "We were so close as a nation. . . as communities. Everybody helped everybody else."

Gay Pauley

"I doubt if I could work as hard again," said nurse Rostetter. "I'm not as young. . . nurses and doctors were on 24-hour duty. We didn't stop until we dropped from fatigue.

Had 104 Temperature

"Some of us came down with the flu. I remember I was working with a temperature of 104. . .there were so many ill to care for. In one week, I lost 18 pounds."

Mrs. Rostetter, married to a steel company employe and the mother of a college professor, lives on Staten Island and still is caring for the sick.

She is praying the health authorities are right in predicting that Asiatic flu, spreading slowly around the world, will be less serious than the Spanish flu pandemic. Its deadly virus, and complications, killed 850,000 in this country. . .an estimated 20 to 27-million world-wide.

"I remember the other started mildly," said Mrs. Rostetter. "Then it got vicious.

"It was sick today, dead tomorrow."

Geared To Help Again

The veteran nurse isn't trying to scare us by recalling the terror of the 1918 epidemic. It is just that she and other nurses are geared, as she said, "to pitch in." She is private duty chairman of district 13, the New York counties Registered Nurses Assn.

So far, the Asiatic flu has been mild with no evidence of an increasing severity. But U.S. Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said in Washington this week, because the virus is "relatively unpredictable," health officials should be on guard for changes in the event of an epidemic.

At the White House—

Ike Aide Reads Fast

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (UP)— Backstairs at the White House:

Bernard M. Shanley, appointment secretary to President Eisenhower, has to do a lot of reading in his job — stacks of correspondence involving virtually every appointment on the President's schedule and federal documents by the hundreds.

Shanley estimated some time ago that he was spending about five hours a day reading and he found this part of his work quite laborious. Whereupon he decided to do something about it — to learn to read faster.

Shanley, a lawyer by profession before joining the Eisenhower staff, entered a speed reading class here at American University and went to summer school. There were 26 other lawyers in his class, all trying to pull themselves out of an attorney's habit of reading with extra slowness in an effort to squeeze every possible nuance out of a sentence.

Shanley says his summer studies have doubled the speed of his reading and with some more practice, he expects to be able to read three times as fast. He now keeps in his office a special electronic gadget which measures a person's reading speed and in fact can force a reader to move faster.

The White House has taken on a glamorous tinge with visitors from the bright world of show business. Among the top entertainment figures to visit the executive offices recently were comedian Bob Hope and movie producer Mike Todd. In fact, Hope played golf with the President one day at the Burning Tree Club.

Hope also played vice president Richard M. Nixon the same week. Nixon had an 82 and licked the movie star who had an 84. Hope got his touch back, however, when he played the President. Hope had an 82 and the chief executive shot an 86.

Reports around the White House were, to put it mildly, desirious that the White House list of visitors include Italian actress Sophia Loren who was in town shooting a picture on location. After all, Sophia was photographed at diplomatic social functions with White House officials in the background, so why shouldn't she visit the executive offices?

The powers that be decreed otherwise, however. They didn't like the possibility of theatrical publicity.

It is hard to figure the difference between publicity for Bob Hope and publicity for Sophia Loren. Within a matter of hours after Eisenhower had a supposedly private game with Hope at Burning Tree where reporters are not permitted while the President is there, a local radio personality was on the air with the exact scores and details of the match.

Mrs. Robert N. Como
(Joyce Darlene Biagini)

Biagini-Como Nuptials Solemnized on Saturday

Joyce Darlene Biagini and Robert N. Como were united in marriage in a ceremony solemnized at St. Cajetan Roman Catholic Church on Saturday, Aug. 24.

The Rev. Leonard Sanesi heard the exchange of vows before the fern decked altar at 1:30 in the afternoon. The church aisle was lined with white crash and the family pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Biagini, 331 Henry St., Belle Vernon, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Como, 1310 Reeves Ave.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white gown fashioned with a bodice of imported Chantilly lace. It was styled with a high neckline and brief sleeves. The skirt was made of imported silk organiza with a cummerbund and full court train. Her crown of seed pearls held a fingertip veil of silk illusion. The bridal flowers were white orchids.

The bride had asked Mr. Como's sister-in-law to be matron of honor and her sister, Beverly Biagini, to be maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Thelma Biagini, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Johanna Hill, a friend of the bride.

All in White

All of the attendants wore gowns of white nylon chiffon with orchid accents. They were styled with cummerbunds trimmed with orchid flowers and with orchid fly-away panels in the back. James Como, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Serving as ushers were Norman C. Biagini, brother of the bride; Robert Giannetti, cousin of the bride and Jack Hill, a friend of the bridegroom.

A reception at the Charleroi Elks Club supplemented the ceremony. The mother of the bride received in a champagne silk chiffon dress with matching accessories and carried her orchid corsage on her purse.

The mother of the bridegroom wore mauve silk organza with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Orchid and white was the color scheme used in the decorations at the reception and the buffet table was centered with an orchid and white mum arrangement. The bridal table was centered with a tiered wedding cake.

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Myford Hurler 40-years 'Young'

Tony Turcaso, pitcher for the Myfords this past season in the City Softball League here, celebrated his 40th birthday in May but still plays softball like a teen-ager . . .Dean Cheesebrough, who played shortstop and second base for a number of local teams before signing with the Charleroi Merchants this season, will be teaching school in Morgantown, Pa., (not W. Va.) near Reading, soon. Dean garnered his teaching know-how at California State Teachers College. He schooled the hard way, playing ball at nights, working and still had time to "hit the books" . . . Where there's a will, there's a way.

* * *

Elizabeth-Forward High School, newest Class A school in the district will become a new "AA" contender already next season. The Warriors have actually booked one double-A game (with Duquesne) for this season. Under head Coach Tony Rubino, the E-F teams climbed from the depths of despair to a season which saw them lose only one in 1956 . . . Bellmar meets the Warriors again this season with the series standing at 1-1 between the two rivals . . . Former Marion (part of Bellmar) Junior High coach Bill Benedetti, who later helped Al Cree at Mononaghela, is a grid aide to Rubino as well as cage mentor of the Warriors . . . By the way, 76 candidates reported to Rubino for the initial drills last week.

Redstone Names Assistant Coach

Redstone High School has named a new grid aide replacing John Katusa, who resigned to take a similar position at Monongahela High. The new assistant to Coach Joe Bosnic is Joe Balaban, who was promoted from the Junior High head post . . . Charleroi High coach Rab Currie has named Joe Uhlman to temporarily team with Ollie Payne as co-captains. Fred Yuss was originally elected to help Payne guide the Cougars on the field but he broke his collar bone and will miss at least three games . . . Yuss, who was an All-Big choice last year, will be sidelined six weeks, counting this week and the two weeks remaining for drills that leaves three of the playing season he'll miss, right?

* * *

Four members of Donora's PONY League team which advanced to the World Series play in Washington are Dragon grid candidates which must make Donora Coach Jimmy Russell fume as they miss the first two weeks of drills. The gridders on the baseball nine include Chuck Guiffrida, Paul Toninecz, Steve Turkovich and Charles Zolak . . . A reader pens us a note to say that he thinks the 1926 Donora grid team which featured players like Dr. Michael (Ki) Duda, former superintendent of schools here, now president of California State Teachers College, John Stump, Johnny Mortak, etc., could defeat the 1931-56 team selected by fan vote through the Donora newspaper . . . Those arguments always come up after naming all-time teams.

MJHS Grid Exams First Day of School

Local Junior High gridders will be examined the first day of school in the health room at 3:30 o'clock, Athletic Director Everette Pancook announced . . . Andy Lenio, is really versatile at the short-stop position. After playing that spot for the Ozarks he switched to the same post for the Myfords in City Softball League playoff action after the Ozarks completed their season . . . The Pricedale entry of the Tri-County Softball League tied the talented Blue Dahlias of Weirton, West Va., at the Victor Emanuel picnic in Donora Sunday. A return game is set for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock under the lights in Weirton. Darkness halted the Sunday tilt after six innings.

Fraley Legend in SA, Breaks Even at Races

By OSCAR FRALEY

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — I'm on my way today toward becoming a South American legend along the lines of Pittsburgh Phil and the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo.

I went to the races and broke even.

This, in itself, can be classed as one of the leading upsets of the year. And, while it may be gilding the lily a bit, such a magnificent perfotmance at the mutuel windows should, even if it isn't, be the talk of the Jockey Club of Brazil.

So today I'll let you in on the two-part secret of how to "beat" the races in Rio so that you, too, can break even if it so happens that you, too, need the money.

The Double Prerequisites

First of all, for the only time in history, I couldn't understand the touts. They speak only Portuguese. Mine is not only very limited but actually non - existent. Secondly, you have to be as homesick as a Carolina coon dog in a Manhattan apartment house.

The way this second part works but is this. In practically every race all of the horses but one have a Spanish or Portuguese handle such as, let's say, Gastronomo. You know, to begin with, that a horse with indigestion isn't going to be too tough to beat. Then, too, for the benefit of the homesick plunger, each race seems to have one animal with an English name. That's the one on which you bet.

In the first race it was a nag called Mischief, which may mean something else in Portuguese but which boyhood memories told me was a fine steed, indeed. So with the sporty nonchalance of a Texan in a five and 10 cent store, I tossed down 100 cruzeiros. I felt like a big spender but some remnant of honesty forces me to admit that 100 cruzeiros is roughly $1.30 Still, I felt like a big gambler. Really.

20-Length Victory

I watched with superior calm as Mischief win by 20 lengths. Why I even stopped yelling at the jockey to "belt him again" when he was two or three feet from the wre. You could hear me over the race caller, who sounds like a tobacco auctioneer at a hog calling contest. Never in the history of the Jockey Club of Brazil, which is Belmont Park surrounded by mountains, have they had so much action for $1.30.

Needless to say, to anyone who knows Old Fearless, I didn't sweep the card or I might have done even better than break even. I hit on something named Oh, Johnny, and that got me off the hook for the rest of an up and down afternoon.

Donora Goes Out Of Series

Donora's gallant PONY League All-Star team, after a brilliant World Series start, bowed out of competition yesterday witht heir second defeat in succession in the double-elimination event.

Dooming the down-river community's title hopes were Maywood, Ill., in general and Jim Hovorka in particular, spelling a 6-2 Donora defeat.

Hovorka powered three home runs to set a new World Series record. The drives also accounted for four of Maywood's six runs.

Meanwhile Arnold Allen was holding the Region Two entry to six hits and striking out 10.

Hovorka's first homer, with two out in the first, gave Maywood a 1-0 lead. His second drive came in the sixth to break a 2-2 deadlock. Maywood scored again on a wild pitch in that frame to make it 4-2, and Hovorka's third round-tripper of the game — with Steve Bokemeier on base in the seventh inning — put his team's lead totally out of the reach of Donora.

No Donora batter garnered more than one safe blow although four Donorans clubbed doubles, John Amatangelo, Dave Kostolasky, Jack Mason and Ted Jurik out of six hits collected off Maywood hurling.

Maywood went on to win another game last night, stopping Paducah, Ky., 4-3, to advance to the semi-final game against Waltham, Mass. tonight. The winner will then meet unbeaten Lufkin, Texas, tomorrow night for the championship.

Bailey Out For 'Big One' in Heidelberg Race

Dick Bailey will try to recapture the "one that got away" when the Pittsburgh Racing Assn. drivers run this Thursday night, 8.30 p. m., at Heidelberg Raceway.

Bailey has been the hottest driver on the PRA circuit during the last two months and one of the big reasons is his success at Heidelberg. So far, he has won five feature races there and owned a streak of three straight before Dick Linder came through two weeks ago.

Bailey's car had been out for repairs after an accident at Clairidge but he brought it back to action last Thursday night at Heidelberg for the big 75-lap endurance run.

Bobby Ditrch won the '75' but Bailey finished a close second and probably would have taken the checkered flag if he hadn't been caught in a track jam early in the race and lost a lot of ground.

The PRA point leader, Herb Scott, still will be battling the greatest jinx of the circuit this year — one which has kept him from a single feature win at Heidelberg this season. Herb probably would be "out of sight" of his challengers in the point race if he had had any success at Heidelberg this season.

Injuries, Lack of Size Plague 'Nick' In Early Sessions

"We're being bothered a little by injuries to some players we had counted upon using in our early drills quite extensively," stated MHS grid coach Armand Niccolai today.

"Nick" also cited a weakness at the end posts offensively but pointed out that this did not show lack of ability on the part of the present end hopefuls but rather lack of size. "We're rather small at the ends to do as much as we'd like offensively," he added.

On the injury list are Joe Karbowsky with a 160-pound senior, who has been a flu victim; Carl Rattay, fullback prospect, and George Guibourdanche, an end hopeful.

All are expected to be back in action before the week is out.

Not much had been said about the guard posts up until now but Niccolai reports he is working Terry Throop, Bob Pauline, Wendell Osborne and Dan Blythe at the two posts. Throop goes about 175, Pauline around 160, Osborne near 180 and Blythe only 132.

Drills on defensive assignments have been the order of the day so far this week with the "dummy play" system employed to teach the various jobs for play on the defense, especially against unbalanced lines.

Both Windber and Monongahela, first two foes of the 'Hounds use the unbalanced lines in their offense.

Today's practice card calls for brushing up on all phases, especially kick-off and punting assignments, usually overlooked until the last minute.

Martinez Wins Gomes Decision

BOSTON (UP) — Agile Isidro Martinez of Panama looked forward to a ranking among world featherweights today after slashing his way to a unanimous 10-round decision over Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I.

The dancing Panamanian champion, who weighed in at 129½, snapped a 12-bout victory streak for Gomes Wednesday night at Boston Arena in a nationally-televised bout.

The unranked Gomes put up a good scrap but suffered cuts over both eyes and went down for a mandatory eight-count in the final round.

Referee Joe Sapustas scored the fight 99-89 while judge Joe Blumsack had it 97-91 and judge Jim Shaughnessy scored it 97-93. The United Press card gave Martinez a 98-91 margin.

Paul Waner to Begin Treatment For Tuberculosis

SARASOTA, Fla. (UP) — Baseball great Paul Waner is expected to enter a sanitarium soon for treatment of tuberculosis.

Waner, a member of the Baseball Hall of Fame and now a batting coach for the Milwaukee Braves, said he was relieved at the diagnosis of tuberculosis made by a Milwaukee physician last Thursday. He said he feared he had cancer.

Recurring attacks of pneumonia had troubled the former outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was hospitalized here over the Christmas holidays, in Waycross, Ga., last April, and in Alpine, Tex., this summer.

Waner said doctors had told him that since his case was found early, he might be cured in from six to eight months.

Waner was known as "Big Poison" in his days as a heavy hitter for the Pirates. His brother, Lloyd, was known as "Little Poison."

Al Thiry Transfers To Charleroi High

Coach Frank Janosik's Monessen High cage hopes for 1957-58 received a jolt today with an announcement that Al Thiry, 6-5 sophomore, who saw some varsity action here as a freshman last year, has transferred to Charleroi High School.

Word out of Charleroi has it that he registered for school there this week. The report also says Thiry, who tips the scales at 185 also plans to play football.

Orphaned by the death of his mother last spring, Thiry will become a ward of the Andrew Zippays of Fallowfield Twp., the Charleroi report stated. A son of the Zippays, Ed, attends Charleroi High.

Living in Fallowfield Township where there is no high school, Thiry had his choice of the school he would attend in the district.

Worsham Leading Tri-State by Two

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Lew Worsham teed off today in the final 18 holes of the Tri-state PGA tournament with a two-stroke edge on the nearest competitors.

The Oakmont, Pa. pro, who has won the National Open and the Tam O'Shanter but never the local crown, carded a 69 on the Shannopin Country Club course Wednesday for a 136 total. Joby Connor, of Green Oaks, Pa., had a 72 for a 138 total.

Monty Onoretta of Schenley fired the best round of the day to share second place honors with Connor. He had a 4-under-par 67 to go with his first round par 71, at Shannopin Country Club.

Tied for fourth place at 139 were Joe Taylor, Charleston, W. Va., Chuck Scally, Pittsburgh, and Andy Borkovich, Brackenridge.

Nickolich's Hurling, Fine Hitting By Saflin, Selelyo Pace Victory

One game away. That's where the Cro-Ams stood in local City Softball League action championship playoff action following a 15-4 win over PNA last night.

Coupled with a victory Tuesday, the Cro-Ams now need only a win tonight at Ninth Street Park in the five-game series to cop the title for '57. Game time tonight is 6 o'clock.

Last night's victory was accomplished by a combination of fine hurling by "Stush" Nickolich and a 17-hit attack on PNA hurling, including five doubles and a grand-slam homer by Tay Saflin.

Nickolich allowed only six hits, including a two-bagger and a round-tripper by George Lovich.

The winners tallied two runs in the first frame, one in the second, three more in each of the third and fourth frames and one in the fifth and sixth and the final four in the seventh, on Saflin's grand slam.

PNA plated three markers in the fourth and a final tally in the sixth when Lovich clouted his homer out of the park.

Saflin and Harpo Selelyo had four hits each, Ernie Lattanzio three to pace the winners. Lovich's homer was best for the losers.

Binks Adamczyk will probably try to "save" PNA tonight while Elmer Lutska who tossed a one-hitter Tuesday will undoubtedly go for the Cro-Ams.

Charleroi, New Eagle In 2-2 Playoff Tie

Charleroi and New Eagle battled to a 2-2 tie in Mon Valley League playoff action last night at New Eagle. They will battle at New Eagle again tonight to play off the tie.

The series stands at 3-2 Charleroi in the best-of-seven set and win tonight would give Charleroi the 1957 crown but a New Eagle victory would send the series to Fayette City tomorrow night.

Fred Briggs and Jess Leach locked in a hurling duel last night. Briggs gave up four hits, Leach five.

Fred Cox blasted out a homer and double for the New Eagle nine. George Zuraw homered and Briggs had two singles for the best merchant battling efforts.

It may be Vic Furgia and Fred Uhlman tonight in the tie playoff. Game time is 5:30 o'clock.

New Eagle had a 2-0 lead in the first inning last night but Charleroi tallied once in the fourth and once in the fifth to tie it up.

Parker Signs; Steeler Ticket Sales Booming

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29 — Pittsburgh Steeler Ticket Manager Joe Carr said today that Buddy Parker must have box office appeal.

Carr said there was an unusual spurt in season ticket sales a few hours after announcement was made that Parker was the new head coach of the National Football League tea. Parker, who quit a similar job with the Detroit Lions earlier this month, was appointed to replace Walt Kiesling who is being retained as a member of the coaching staff.

Parker will take charge of the Steelers tomorrow at their training camp in Olean, N.Y.

Parker, is expected to show up at the Steeler camp in Olean, N. Y., about 6 o'clock this evening and Walt Kiesling, who stepped down from head coach to assistant coach, is expected to have everything in working order for him.

Yesterday Kiesling made a speech to the team. He merely told the players they had a new coach and he hoped they would play their best for him.

"Kies has no real emotion about anything," said a Steeler official in describing the speech, "unless it's a horse coming down the stretch. It was no Bragan farewell address."

Meanwhile, Paker's only message yesterday was:

"There will be few changes at first I want to win but maybe I won't this year. I'm no miracle man."

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Poor Planning

On nearly every golf hole, both sides of the fairway can give you trouble. But nearly always, the trouble will be greater on one side than on the other. When you side than on the other. gWhen you stand on the tee, take note of which side will give you greater trouble then determine to avoid this greater trouble at all costs. Favor the side where the rouble is less fierce

I don't mean to say, of course, that you should deliberately drive into the rough on one side to avoid a sand trap, say, on the other. But if there is fairly heavy rough on one side and sand traps on the other, aim down the side of the fairway with only the rough to worry about.

Then, if you hit the ball straight you will be in the fairway. If you are off-line in the direction of the rough, your trouble won't be too great. And you'll have an added safety margin if you are off-line in the direction of the traps.

Great Britain Seen Copping Second Walker Cup in 15

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP) — Every omen, experience, the records and even the weather, pointed today toward Great Britain's second victory in 15 Walker Cup golf matches.

Four of the 10 invading players have held the British Amateur title in the last five years, and four of them have had previous Walker Cup experience.

Against this lineup, the Americans have only one former amateur champion, the non - playing captain, Charlie Coe, and only three players with Walker Cup experience. One of these three, Charlie Kocsis, played in the only match which the Americans lost.

Gerald H. Micklem, a Walker Cup player four times and non-playing captain of the British team, rated his team "the best prepared in history" for the tournament, and cited the weather as favoring his team.

For recent practice rounds, it has been chilly, wet and windy, and forecasters expected this same condition Friday, when there will be four 36 - hole two - ball matches. Pairings for the foursomes will be announced by Micklem and Coe late today.

Saturday, the struggle will finish with eight 36 - hole singles matches, with the pairings to be determined after Friday's play ends.

Tigers Recall Hurler

DETROIT (UP) — Right-hander Jim Stump, who had a 14-and-11 record for Birmingham of the Southern Association, reported to the parent Detroit Tigers today. The 25-year-old Stump replaced southpaw Al Aber, who went to the Kansas City Athletics on waivers Tuesday.

Kline Handcuffs Cardinals by 2 - 0 In Six-Hit Stint

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Pirate righthander Ronnie Kline handcuffed the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night, allowing six hits for a 2-0 victory.

The win was Kline's fourth straight and his sixth of the season against 15 losses. Loser Larry Jackson, who also allowed six hits, suffered his seventh defeat against 12 wins. Both pitchers went the distance.

The win by Pittsburgh, and a corresponding loss by Chicago to Brooklyn, 4-3, put the Pirates within 1½ games of seventh place.

Folles led off for Pittsburgh in the third with a single to deep short for the first Pirate hit. He advanced on Kline's sacrifice, went to third after Roberto Clemente flied out to center and scored when Bill Virdon bounced a single over Jackson's head.

A lead-off double by Frank Thomas in the seventh followed by Bill Mazerowski's triple to right center gave Pittsburgh its other tally.

No games are scheduled today in the National League. Pittsburgh opens a four-game series Friday night with the Phillies in Philadadelphia.

Haney Taking Blame for 12-6 Loss to Giants

NEW YORK (UP) — Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves beat his second - guessers to the punch by taking the blame for Wednesday's 12-6 debacle with the New York Giants.

"It was my mistake all right," Haney said. "I had a tiger by the tail and couldn't let go."

Haney's "tiger" was a decision to pinch hit for pitcher Gene Conley leading off the fourth inning and have Bob Trowbridge pitch the remainder of the game. Haney made up his mind after the Giants went ahead. 4-2, in the bottom of the third inning and had two out with the bottom of the batting order coming up.

The flaw in the strategy was that Conley never did get the third out. Whitey Lockman was purposely walked, Valmy Thomas hit a three-run double and Curt Barclay and Danny O'Connell singled to make it a six-run inning and then Don Mueller singled home two more when Trowbridge finally made his appearance.

It was a classic managerial dilemma and Haney found sympathetic ear in Giant manager Bill Rigney.

"I have had the same thing happen to me," Rigney said. "He'd make up his mind to pinch hit for the pitcher; he didn't want Trowbridge to pitch to only one batter; and he kept figuring Conley had to get somebody out."

Despite Wednesday's messy performance, Rigney saw no reason why the Braves won't "breeze in." In fact, he ventured an opinion that the Braves will do quite well against the Yankees in the World Series.

Fish Hatchery Bill Passed by House

WASHINGTON (UP)—A bill to establish a fish hatchery in Allegheny National Forest in Northwestern Pennsylvania was passed by the House and sent to the Senate Wednesday.

The House Fisheries Committee said the hatchery was needed to meet the rising demand of fishermen in Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania for fishing in the area.

Yankees, Chisox Begin Bidding For Hurling Help

CHICAGO (UP) — The league-leading New York Yankees and the frantic Chicago White Sox started a bidding contest today for aging pitchers Sal Maglie of Brooklyn and Virgil Trucks of Kansas City as both clubs headed into the pennant stretch drive.

The Yankees, recovering from recent jitters after a late season slump, and the White Sox, within reaching distance of the flag, are both in need of mound help. Maglie is 6-6 and Trucks 8-5 thus far.

Charles Comiskey, youthful vice president of the Chicago club, brought the bargaining contest out of the realm of rumor when he said he was "interested" in obtaining the 40-year-old Maglie.

Comiskey said he talked to Buzzy Bavasi, Brooklyn vice president, about Maglie and that the Dodger executive promised a reply by today or Friday. Comiskey didn't say how much he was prepared to pay, but it was learned authoritatively that Bavasi, after obtaining waivers on Maglie, was asking $75,000.

Comiskey, in a now - or - never mood to overtake the perennial American League champions, said that he was aware the Yanks are also after Maglie and perhaps Trucks.

"I'm prepared to go as high or higher than they will," he said.

Comiskey said he also had made a "substantial offer" for Trucks after the 38-year-old fireballer was cleared on waivers.

"We could use either Maglie or Trucks, or both," he said.

Yankee maneuverings in the bargaining were silent thus far but were believed to be equally or possibly more effective.

Stock Car Drivers Awaiting '500'

DARLINGTON, S.C. (UP) — More stock car jockeys raced the clock today, shooting for choice starting spots in Monday's eighth Southern 500 Mile Classic and Wednesday's 117.416 miles per hour turned in by Cotton Owens.

Owens, the little Spartanburg, S.C., speedster who has driven in three of the seven prior Southern 500s, never finishing higher than seventh, was the fastest of nine drivers with his Pontiac Wednesday to win the coveted pole position.

Only five of the nine cars were qualified. The four others, all Fords, were set to try again today, or Friday Five cars were to be qualified each day to fill the 15 top starting spots, three abreast in five rows.

The remainder of the field, with the maximum 75 cars, will scramble for starting positions Saturday behind the leaders for Monday's classic which is expected to be run before 75,000 fans at Darlington International Raceway.

Williams Opens Gap Over Mantle

DETROIT (UP) — Ted Williams has opened "daylight" between himself and Mickey Mantle in their race for the American League batting crown.

Williams had one hit, a game-winning homer, in three at-bats for Boston Wednesday in a 14-0 win over Detroit while Mantle went hitless in four trips for the Yankees in their 5-4 win over the White Sox.

As a result, Williams stayed even at .380 and Mantle dropped two points to .373.

IBC Pulls New Switch in Bout Of Sugar-Basilio

NEW YORK (UP) — In a surprise switch, the International Boxing Club today threatened to call off the Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio fight, but Sugar Ray — who called it off last week—said, "I'm definitely going through with the fight."

The IBC threat was made because of a new demand for $300,000 for theater-television by a Robinson representative, who disrupted the nine-day settlement negotiations.

Attorney Sidney O. Friedman for the IBC said he would appear at today's meeting of the N.Y. State Athletic Commission and ask for "proper action." He said, "If Robinson confirms the $300,000 demand, there may be no fight."

Last Monday, the commisson ordered Sugar Ray to go through with his scheduled title defense against Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23, or risk losing his middleweight crown by forfeit.

At that time Robinson said he would fight if there was no television, but "I'll walk out of the ring if I see a theater - TV camera." However, the commission said his contracts called for a closed - circuit presentation by Theater Network Television, Inc.

The champion objected to TNT televising the fight because it offered no cash guarantee — just a guarantee that 400,000 seats would be available; whereas another organization, the Teleprompter Corp. had offered him a $250,000 guarantee.

That $250,000 would be in addition to his 45 per cent of the net gate, radio and movies.

Wednesday night, TNT finally offered a $250,000 guarantee. Then came the blow-up when a Robinson advisor, George Gainford, told the negotiators, "If you raised that offer to $300,000, Robinson probably would go for it."

Robinson said today, "I never made the $300,000 request, but I haven't accepted the TNT offer of $250,000 because it only matches the original offer I got from Teleprompter."

He said he will "definitely" go through with the fight, but without television of any kind.

Casey's Trademarks Return as Yanks Near Eighth Pennant

By MILTON RICHMAN

Casey Stengel's two famous trademarks — the wink and the impish grin—finally were back in place today as befits a chipper skipper who knows he has just about wrapped up his eighth pennant in nine tries.

The Yankees restored that long-absent Stengel grin Wednesday night when they widened their American League lead to a full-blown 5½ games by knocking over the ambitious Chicago White Sox for the second straight night, 5-4.

Don Larsen was the winner, but the hero was reliever Bob Turley, who was summoned from the bullpen for the second successive night and nailed down the Yankee triumph. Turley first got Larsen out of a jam in the sixth inning, then worked himself out of a bases-loaded situation in the seventh after yielding a two - run homer to Earl Torgeson.

Hank Bauer hammered his 15th homer of the year in the seventh off loser Billy Pierce.

Orioles On Rampage

The Baltimore Orioles staged the biggest offensive in their history to maul the Cleveland Indians, 19-6, while Washington defeated Kansas City, 3-2, and Boston beat Detroit, 1-0, on Ted Williams' 33rd homer of the season.

In the National League, the Dodgers took over second place with a 14-inning, 4-3 triumph over the Cubs; the Giants crushed the Braves, 12-6, slicing their lead to seven games; Cincinnati climbed back into the first division with a 6-5 win over Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis, 2-0.

Gus Triandos and Tito Francona paced the Orioles to their one-sided victory over the Indians; Triandos hitting a pair of homers and driving in five runs while Francona drove in four runs with four hits.

Pedro Ramos of the Senators fired a four-hitter against Kansas City in registering his 10th triumph.

Williams' homer came in the seventh inning and was one of the two hits allowed by Jim Bunning, who absorbed his seventh loss.

Valo Comes Through

Pinch - hitter Elmer Valo produced Brooklyn's victory over the Cubs with a 14th-inning single off Dave Hillman that scored Randy Jackson from third.

The Giants broke loose for eight runs in the third inning, their biggest rally of the season, in sending Gene Conley of the Braves down to his seventh loss.

The Redlegs blasted Curt Simmons and Jim Hearn for six runs in the second inning and then hung on to edge the Phillies. Wally Post's 17th homer with one on highlighted the rally. Robin Roberts made his first relief appearance since being lifted from the starting rotation and blanked Cincinnati on three hits for 5 1-3 innings. Brooks Lawrence was the winner.

Right-hander Ronnie Kline of the Pirates reeled off his fourth straight win and sixth of the season in holding the Cardinals to six hits.

Fish Commission Plans Fishing Improvements

Planning to line up a priority system and work schedule for the rest of this biennium, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission has carried out an inspection of more than thirty properties and management areas and made plans for their development and improvement for public fishing and boating.

The inspection was made by William Voigt, Jr., executive director of the Commission, in company with Thomas F. O'Hara, the Commission's chief engineer, Cyril G. Regan, in charge of land management and maintenance, and Deputy Attorney General John Sullivan. Other officials and employes of the Commission visited some of the areas as the inspection party made its round of the state.

A variety of properties was visited. They included lakes and reservoirs owned or managed by the Commission, public access lots on existing lakes, and public access acres along the North Branch of the Susquehanna, the Juniata, the Allegheny, and French creek. They also included a few additional tracts the Commission is now investigating with a view of acquiring title or long-term lease. A half dozen properties remain to be inspected later in the year.

Because of the variety of places involved, differing types of works will be necessary. These include road development and improvement to provide access from the nearest state or township road, driveways in lakeside lots, parking areas, boat launching ramps, some dam repairs or reconstruction on older structures, sanitary facilities where required or desirable, and the adequate marking of the areas with signs for the guidance of the using public.

It is anticipated that the coming fall and winter months will be utilized in preparing engineering plans, accumulating needed materials and supplies, having signs made, precasting concrete sections for prefabricated construction of sanitary and other facilities, and handling other preliminaries that can be carried out in the off season.

Then, when the weather opens in 1958, a carefully planned work itinerary will be started so that the actual field work can be completed as rapidly as time and manpower will permit.

The Commission is determined, Voigt said in connection with the program, to make its fishing and boating areas attractive as well as useful, and to try its best to keep them that way.

Billy Graham Happy With N. Y. Reception

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham said Wednesday night that he included himself among the 53,207 persons who have officially declared themselves spiritually strengthened by his New York crusade.

"I have received revival in my own soul," the evangelist said. "I've been revived myself spiritually by what has happened in New York."

Graham made it evident he was jubilant over the reception New York and the world has given his crusade, the longest and most successful he has ever conducted, and which he has described as "the biggest evangelistic effort since the time of Paul."

The crusade, which is in its 16th week, has already drawn 1,741,600 persons to hear the 38-year-old North Carolinian. Wednesday night alone, Madison Square Garden was filled to capacity with 18,500 persons, plus 700 standees—all the fire laws allow.

Crusade officials were confident today that by Sunday night, when Graham closes the extended revival series with a rally in Times Square, more than two million persons will have come to hear the evangelist.

The revivalist said in his Wednesday night sermon, after which 731 persons recorded "decisions for Christ," that "the greatest sin in the world is pride," a sin that goes hand-in-hand with selfishness.

"Pride produces jealousy, which produces strife and warfare," he said. "Pride is the root of all sins, the sin of Lucifer and of the world tonight. Whether national or otherwise, pride is the great sin that causes us not to love our neighbors."

When ancestors of dogs are of the same breed and are known and recorded, the dogs are said to be pedigreed.

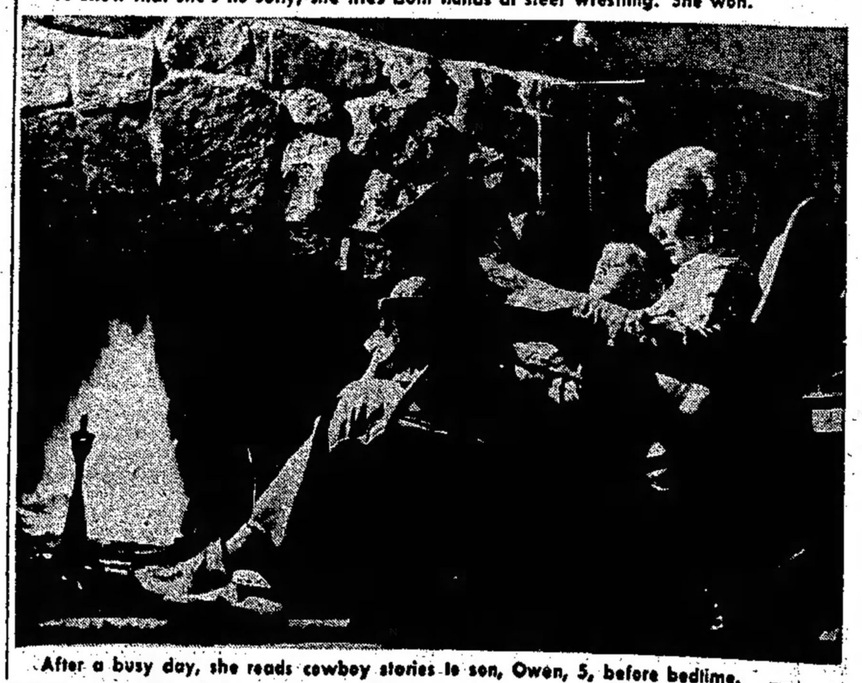
FOREMAN IS A SHE

THIS MAY COME as a shock to the small fry, but not all ranch foremen are big, raw-boned and fast with their fists. In fact, the foreman of the Painted Pony ranch at Lake Luzerne, N. Y., is a mother. She is blonde, beautiful Betty Jane Baxter, who, with her husband, Donald, runs the ranch owned by her father, Walter Isaacson, and his brother, Charles. A former Brooklyn girl, Betty Jane gets horses ready for guests, helps saddle some 40 horses and gives their lessons to fledgling riders. To support her riding activities, she has a wardrobe of 12 fancy Western outfits and 40 other costumes which she dons for general wear.

Mrs. Baxter leads a group of vacationers from a long ride near Lake Luzerne.

To show that she's no softy, she tries both hands at steer wrestling. She won.



After a busy day, she reads cowboy stories to son, Owen, 5, before bedtime.

SOVIET JET LINER — Marking the first time that a Russian passenger plane ever landed in the United States, a Soviet TU-104 jet liner will land the Russian United Nations staff in New York between Sept. 3 and Sept. 7. This is a photo of the TU-104, a twin-jet craft with a cruising speed of 500 miles an hour. The U. S. Department of State also granted Moscow permission to fly a second flight to the U. S. between Sept. 13 and 17.

British Too Fast in Starting Jet Travel

(Third of Four Dispatches)

By GLENN STACKHOUSE

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — On May 16, 1952, a graceful airplane with tapered wings and the streamlining of a flying fish whistled into the air from an English field and announced to the world with a blowtorch voice that the era of jet travel had begun.

It was the Comet II, pride of De Havilland Aircraft Co., the world's first commercial jet airliner.

It thrust the jubilant British into the forefront of civil aviation for the first time in history and offered Europe an opening wedge to crack the solid front of American monopoly in the commercial aircraft industry.

The Comet promptly broke all the world's airline speed records with ease, much to the dismay of such American titans as Boeing, Douglas, Convair and Lockheed.

Got Ahead of Selves

But, in the ensuing two years, the British found they had won a battle, but lost a war. They had rushed the Comet into the air too soon, without the painstaking research, proving and double-checking of their American competitors.

Their mistakes became tragically evident when four of the Comets crashed in quick succession, strewing the bodies of 110 victims from Naples to Karachi.

In April, 1954, the government grounded the rest of the Comets and De Havilland designers went back to the drawing board.

Today De Havilland is in a nip-and-tuck race with Boeing to get into the air. De Havilland's new and proven Comet IV and Boeing's 707 both are scheduled to be delivered to customers nert year.

French Also Bidding

Across the channel in France, Sub Aviation Co. has jumped into the battle with a fat-bodied, short-ranged jet transport called the Caravelle, a twin-engined plane designed for the short haul

The Caravelle's wings are naked of engines.

Two Rolls Royce power plants are tucked away against the fuselage so far aft they are almost under the tail.

French engineers, strongly aware of the Comet's disasters, settled on this design on the theory that a malfunctioning engine that tears off a wing is worse than no engine at all. Furthermore, they found the engine-in-the-rear gave them the quietest jet from the passenger's standpoint in the world.

Built to carry 64 to 80 passengers, the Caravelle has a top speed of 500 m.p.h. on flights ranging from a few hundred to 2,000 miles.

Russian Plane In Service

There still is a third builder of jet airliners. Soviet Russia, which has a penchant for claiming most firsts, today can rightly boast the distinction of having the only pure jet passenger plane in service in the world.

Swooshing across the sprawling USSR and its satellites, and seldom viewed by Westerners, is the Tupolev-104, a twin - jet airliner rated at 500 m.p.h. and capable of carrying 90 passengers. Foreign observers estimate the fleet operated by Aeroflot is between 20 and 50.

Henry Shapiro, U.P. Moscow correspondent, who flew in a TU104 from Moscow to Prague, estimates that at least 20 of the planes fly daily service between the Russian and Czech capitals and three times a week to central Asia and Peiping.

Russian progress presents no immediate threat of competition for the Soviets have shown no inclination to sell on the world market.

Teachers, State Workers to Get Social Security

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today was slated to sign contracts paving the way for school teachers and state workers to have Social Security integrated with their retirement systems.

The proposal was approved overwhelmingly by the workers in two days of voting throughout the state. Although the vote was incomplete, the state reported favorable ballots from 97 per cent of the approximately 55,000 eligible to vote in the school group and among the 46,000 other state workers.

The contracts signed by the governor will be taken later in the week to New York City for action by the regional office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The integration will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1956 or date of employment, whichever is later.

Paul C. Moomaw, executive director of the Bureau of Social Security for Public Employes, estimated the coverage will apply to a total of 130,000 workers in the groups. It will also apply to some workers on a part time basis and not now eligible for retirement systems.

Jewish Building

BERLIN (UP)—The West Berlin city government said today it will provide $250,000 for construction of a Jewish community center. The center is to be built on the site of West Berlin's largest synagogue, which was destroyed by the Nazis.

Lone Vaccine Shot Enough

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government said today it is sticking to its recommendation that one shot of preventive Asian flu vaccine will do the job despite a Pentagon decision to use two.

A Public Health Service spokesman said the PHS "medical personnel and scientific advisers believe one shot will provide substantial protection for approximately one year."

The armed forces announced Wednesday that it will give men in uniform two shots of the new vaccine as an extra precaution. That appeared to mean several million civilians will have to wait a little longer to get their shots.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney estimated earlier that stepped-up production will make it possible to inoculate between 80 to 85 million persons — about half the U.S. population—by Jan. 1.

However, military officials now say that the Pentagon wants 7,230,000 one-cubic-centimeter doses compared with an original estimate of four million shots.

Public health officers conceded the single shot might be somewhat less effective than vaccines for older strains of flu virus which are about 70 per cent effective.

However, they contended it was better to inoculate as many persons as possible with 1 cc. shots than to increase the dosage and reach fewer persons.

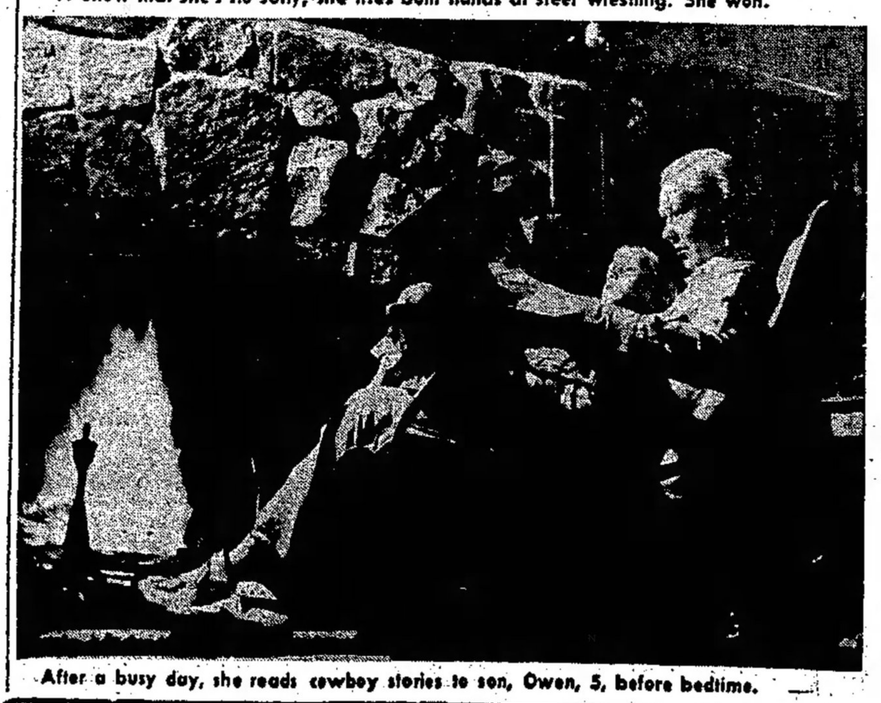
FOREMAN IS A SHE

THIS MAY COME as a shock to the small fry, but not all ranch foremen are big, raw-boned and fast with their fists. In fact, the foreman of the Painted Pony ranch at Lake Luzerne, N. Y., is a mother. She is blonde, beautiful Betty Jane Baxter, who, with her husband, Donald, runs the ranch owned by her father, Walter Isaacson, and his brother, Charles. A former Brooklyn girl, Betty Jane gets horses ready for guests, helps saddle some 40 horses and gives their lessons to fledgling riders. To support her riding activities, she has a wardrobe of 12 fancy Western outfits and 40 other costumes which she dons for general wear.

Mrs. Baxter leads a group of vacationers from a long ride near Lake Luzerne.

To show that she's no softy, she tries both hands at steer wrestling. She won.



After a busy day, she reads cowboy stories to son, Owen, 5, before bedtime.

Segregationist Is On His Way West

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — Roving segregationist John Kasper plans to arrive here within two weeks to spearhead a drive against integrated schools. He said Wednesday his arrival, planned one week after Little Rock schools are integrated, would start things rolling to pull integration "out of the fire."

However, his presence apparently was not looked forward to by local segregation leaders. "We do not want Mr. Kasper," one said.

SOVIET JET LINER — Marking the first time that a Russian passenger plane ever landed in the United States, a Soviet TU-104 jet liner will land the Russian United Nations staff in New York between Sept. 3 and Sept. 7. This is a photo of the TU-104, a twin-jet craft with a cruising speed of 500 miles an hour. The U. S. Department of State also granted Moscow permission to fly a second flight to the U. S. between Sept. 13 and 17.

British Too Fast in Starting Jet Travel

(Third of Four Dispatches)

By GLENN STACKHOUSE

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — On May 16, 1952, a graceful airplane with tapered wings and the streamlining of a flying fish whistled into the air from an English field and announced to the world with a blowtorch voice that the era of jet travel had begun.

It was the Comet II, pride of De Havilland Aircraft Co., the world's first commercial jet airliner.

It thrust the jubilant British into the forefront of civil aviation for the first time in history and offered Europe an opening wedge to crack the solid front of American monopoly in the commercial aircraft industry.

The Comet promptly broke all the world's airline speed records with ease, much to the dismay of such American titans as Boeing, Douglas, Convair and Lockheed.

Got Ahead of Selves

But, in the ensuing two years, the British found they had won a battle, but lost a war. They had rushed the Comet into the air too soon, without the painstaking research, proving and double-checking of their American competitors.

Their mistakes became tragically evident when four of the Comets crashed in quick succession, strewing the bodies of 110 victims from Naples to Karachi.

In April, 1954, the government grounded the rest of the Comets and De Havilland designers went back to the drawing board.

Today De Havilland is in a nip-and-tuck race with Boeing to get into the air. De Havilland's new and proven Comet IV and Boeing's 707 both are scheduled to be delivered to customers nert year.

French Also Bidding

Across the channel in France, Sub Aviation Co. has jumped into the battle with a fat-bodied, short-ranged jet transport called the Caravelle, a twin-engined plane designed for the short haul.

The Caravelle's wings are naked of engines.

Two Rolls Royce power plants are tucked away against the fuselage so far aft they are almost under the tail.

French engineers, strongly aware of the Comet's disasters, settled on this design on the theory that a malfunctioning engine that tears off a wing is worse than no engine at all. Furthermore, they found the engine-in-the-rear gave them the quietest jet from the passenger's standpoint in the world.

Built to carry 64 to 80 passengers, the Caravelle has a top speed of 500 m.p.h. on flights ranging from a few hundred to 2,000 miles.

Russian Plane In Service

There still is a third builder of jet airliners. Soviet Russia, which has a penchant for claiming most firsts, today can rightly boast the distinction of having the only pure jet passenger plane in service in the world.

Swooshing across the sprawling USSR and its satellites, and seldom viewed by Westerners, is the Tupolev-104, a twin - jet airliner rated at 500 m.p.h. and capable of carrying 90 passengers. Foreign observers estimate the fleet operated by Aeroflot is between 20 and 50.

Henry Shapiro, U.P. Moscow correspondent, who flew in a TU104 from Moscow to Prague, estimates that at least 20 of the planes fly daily service between the Russian and Czech capitals and three times a week to central Asia and Peiping.

Russian progress presents no immediate threat of competition for the Soviets have shown no inclination to sell on the world market.

Teachers, State Workers to Get Social Security

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today was slated to sign contracts paving the way for school teachers and state workers to have Social Security integrated with their retirement systems.

The proposal was approved overwhelmingly by the workers in two days of voting throughout the state. Although the vote was incomplete, the state reported favorable ballots from 97 per cent of the approximately 55,000 eligible to vote in the school group and among the 46,000 other state workers.

The contracts signed by the governor will be taken later in the week to New York City for action by the regional office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The integration will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1956 or date of employment, whichever is later.

Paul C. Moomaw, executive director of the Bureau of Social Security for Public Employes, estimated the coverage will apply to a total of 130,000 workers in the groups. It will also apply to some workers on a part time basis and not now eligible for retirement systems.

Jewish Building

BERLIN (UP)—The West Berlin city government said today it will provide $250,000 for construction of a Jewish community center. The center is to be built on the site of West Berlin's largest synagogue, which was destroyed by the Nazis.

Lone Vaccine Shot Enough

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government said today it is sticking to its recommendation that one shot of preventive Asian flu vaccine will do the job despite a Pentagon decision to use two.

A Public Health Service spokesman said the PHS "medical personnel and scientific advisers believe one shot will provide substantial protection for approximately one year."

The armed forces announced Wednesday that it will give men in uniform two shots of the new vaccine as an extra precaution That appeared to mean several million civilians will have to wait a little longer to get their shots.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney estimated earlier that stepped-up production will make it possible to inoculate between 80 to 85 million persons — about half the U.S. population—by Jan. 1.

However, military officials now say that the Pentagon wants 7,230,000 one-cubic-centimeter doses compared with an original estimate of four million shots.

Public health officers conceded the single shot might be somewhat less effective than vaccines for older strains of flu virus which are about 70 per cent effective.

However, they contended it was better to inoculate as many persons as possible with 1 cc. shots than to increase the dosage and reach fewer persons.

GSA in First Open Meeting

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General State Authority held its first open meeting Wednesday, but handled only routine business without taking up allocation of 50 million dollars in increased borrowing power.

Newsmen flocked to the meeting, heralded in advance of the so-called "right-to-know" laws requiring open records and meetings of most state agencies, for expected action on the additional borrowing power granted by the Legislature in an 11th hour compromise by House and Senate Republicans last June.

However, the chairman of the GSA's priorities committee which had recommended allocations for the 50 million dollars did not attend and the agency passed over the matter. The committee, headed by Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) had earmarked $23,500,000 for completion of projects already underway and $27,100,000 for other projects. Three other agency members also were absent.

Otherwise, the authority formalized action to open bids Sept. 19 on a 25 million dollar bond issue. Insurance of the bonds would bring the state's indebtedness to a total 260 million dollars. The GSA also gave the green light for construction of four schools for mentally retarded children at Canonsburg, Washington County; Ebensburg, Cambria County; Philadelphia State Hospital, and White Haven, Luzerne County.

At one point the Republican members on the agency protested Gov. George M. Leader serving as a member of each subcommittee. But they were pacified when Leader agreed he would not have a vote in committee action. The GSA's 12 member board is equally split between Democrats and Republicans.

Open meetings of the agency are not expected to produce fireworks. The GSA has indicated it will gather in executive session, behind closed doors, to iron out differences before going through the motions of a formal meeting with newsmen in attendance.

VFW TO CNO — At the opening of the 58th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Miami Beach, a former doughboy, Cooper T. Holt, VFW commander in chief, presents a gold medal to Adm. A. A. Burke, chief of U. S. naval operations. Delivering the main speech shortly afterward, the admiral said Russia now has the second largest navy in the world, with a huge building program adding to its strength daily.

Trumpet Silenced

CHICAGO (UP) — "They're fiends, I tell you! Fiends of the animal world!" said Hillard Kirstein. The fiends were six large caterpillars who ravaged an angel's trumpet, a South American plant, in Kirstein's backyard.

Inflation Top Issue, Democrats Interpret

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democratic Party managers interpreted their reports from Wisconsin today to mean that inflation is their No. 1 issue for the 1958 congressional campaign.

They also listed dissatisfaction with Eisenhower administration's farm, foreign and budget policies as factors in the upset victory of the Democratic nominee in Wisconsin's special Senate election Tuesday.

Republicans were inclined to blame their own family strife in Wisconsin as the chief reason for their defeat but many of them admitted that other issues influenced the outcome against their candidate.

Tight Money Policy

In the Wisconsin vote, Democrat William Proxmire defeated former GOP Gov. Walter J. Kohler, an Eisenhower Republican. Compared with the 1956 results in Wisconsin, a normally Republican state, Proxmire registered gains in the Democratic vote across the board in both industrial and farm areas.

Democrats in Congress have been hammering all year on the issue of inflation and the rising cost of living. They have linked this to the administration's tight money policy, which the administration considers a weapon against inflation while some Democrats argue that it in fact contributes to inflation.

Another Trouble Spot

The farm issue has spelled trouble for Republicans since early in the Eisenhower administration. Proxmire's sweep of most of the rural counties in Wisconsin indicates that it is still a GOP headache.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said one of the conclusions to be drawn from the Wisconsin result was that farmers in the state were "definitely dissatisfied with the overall federal agricultural program, particularly as the dairy parity program has worked out."

Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.) called the Proxmire victory a protest against President Eisenhower's record peacetime budget and foreign aid program. Democrats agreed that these were factors, but contended that there was discontent with the administration's overall record in foreign affairs, not just with the foreign aid program.

Five Recovering From Hangovers As Part of Test

NEWARK, N.J. (UP)—Five men recovered from hangovers today, brought on in the interest of science.

The five volunteers "had a ball" Wednesday in a dignified courtroom. They drank their favorite brands of scotch, rye and bourbon to prove the accuracy of a drunkometer used to test the sobriety of motorists.

All were escorted home. Richard Silver, Essex County traffic safety coordinator, labelled the experiment "a success."

The party began at 10 a.m. e.d.t. with three-ounce shots of liquor. Drinking continued at intervals until 6:20 p.m., with periodic interruptions for drunkometer and blood tests.

The drunkometer proved accurate when compared with the blood test, Silver said.

One volunteer drank scotch with an orange soda chaser. He didn't like the taste of scotch, he explained. He dropped out after 12 shots. The last man lasted 19 drinks.

The object of the binge was to demonstrate the effectiveness of the drunkometer in an effort to make use of the device compulsory in New Jersey.

Red China to Deport Youth Touring Nation

PEIPING (UP) — Communist China threatened today to deport Shelby Tucker of Pass Christian, Miss., one of the American youths touring Red China, for refusing to surrender his passport to the Chinese customs.

"I'm in a dilemma," Tucker explained. "I've a choice of violating Chinese law or United States law." He referred to the State Department ban on travel by Americans in Communist China.

As a result, while the 41 other Americans touring the mainland were to leave today for Chang Chun in the heavilypindustrialized northeast, Tucker was packing his bags for an almost certain 5,600-mile trip back to Moscow.

The American delegation Wednesday visited a cooperative farming village of Kao Pei Tien near Peiping, with all 4,000 villagers turning out to greet the youths.

The Americans discussed ancient and modern farm methods with the Chinese officials and then went into the cotton and corn fields to talk with the peasants.

Baby Born to Nine-year-old

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—A 9-year-old mother rested quietly today, but her 2½-pound boy struggled for his life in an incubator.

The child was born about a month and a half prematurely, officials at University of Arkansas Medical Center said Wednesday.

Dr. Eva Dodge, who delivered the baby, said the child's Negro mother was verified through a birth certificate to have been born in another state in March, 1948.

Dr. Willis E. Brown, head of the center's Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, said the mother is the youngest on his department's records, nosing out by two years an 11-year-old girl who gave birth to a baby in the hospital about three weeks ago.

Hospital officials refused to reveal further details. They would not give the girl's name, home town or whether she was married. William W. Hughes, news director for the center, said, "Doctors have decided to protect such cases as this as far as publicity is concerned."

The baby was placed in an incubator and doctors said he had a good chance to live.

The 9-year-old mother was reported in good condition today. Hospital officials said to their knowledge no name has been given the tiny baby.

Chicago Papers Up to Seven Cents

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Tribune today joined the city's two afternoon newspapers in boosting the price of their daily editions from a nickel to seven cents.

The Daily News and the Chicago American earlier this week upped their prices to seven cents.

The Sun-Times and the Tribune in an announcement today, said the price increase will go into effect next Monday.

Epidemics Are Active In Colder Months

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP)— If the United States has an epidemic of Asiatic flu, Public Health Service doctors are reasonably sure it will occur sometime between Oct. 1 and March 31.

But a spokesman said today this forecast is based entirely on historical experience, which shows that "almost all" U.S. flu epidemics hit during the fall or winter months.

Dr. William H. Stewart, assistant to the surgeon general, said medical scientists don't know why this should be the case.

The most popular theory, he said, is that "it is not the cold weather itself, but the way people act in cold weather" that triggers a flu epidemic.

"When it turns cold, we come indoors," he pointed out. "We tend to congregate more. We roll up the windows of cars and buses."

Children are close together in schools. There tends to be less ventilation in factories, offices, theaters where adults gather.

Spreads In Winter

Under these conditions, he said, the highly-contagious flu virus spreads more rapidly than it does in summer, when folks are spending a lot of time outdoors in the fresh air and sunshine.

The best evidence that a drop in temperature is not in itself the event that starts the flu virus to spread, Sewart said, is the experience of tropical countries. Plenty of flu epidemics occur in climates that remain hot year-round, and there is no tendency for them to be concentrated in a particular season of the year.

On the other hand, all countries in temperate climates have had the same exprience as the United States. That is, epidemics occur mainly during the six coldest months of the year — October through March in the Northern Hemisphere, April through September in the Southern Hemisphere.

Recalls Pandemic

Stewart said medical history indicates there is a "very outside chance" of a flu epidemic in this country as early as September or as late as April. The worst onslaught in history — the so-called "great pandemic of 1918"—began in September, but no other major epidemic has ever begun so early.

Since the Asiatic flu virus is already very widely "seeded" over the United States, can it be assumed that the expected epidemic will begin as soon as the weather turns cold in various parts of the nation?

"No, you can't assure that," Stewart replied. "Sometimes — we don't know why — several weeks or months of cold weather will pass before the epidemic starts to roll.

"We are fairly sure that if there is an epidemic it will come in the fall and winter span of months. But it is impossible to guess precisely when, within that span, it is most likely to occur.

"We hope it will wait until late winter, so we'll have time to produce more flu vaccine and get more people inoculated. But we have no assurance that it won't come in October."

Fairmont to Get New Coal Mine

BOSTON, Mass. (UP)—Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates, one of the nation's largest commercial producers of bituminous coal, said Tuesday it is planning to build a large capacity steam coal mine in the Fairmont, W. Va., area.

President E. H. Bird said coal reserves at the mine location are estimated at 160 million tons. However, Bird gave no estimate of the project's cost.

Bird said the mine was being built to keep up the increasing demand for steam coal by electric companies. Eastern operates 13 mines in West Virginia.

Sections of Charleroi Recreation Park May Go for Army Center

A four-acre site in Charleroi's Recreation Park may be sold to the United States Army for the construction of a half-million dollar building to house a reserve unit.

The trustees of the Charleroi Community Park Fund have been empowered to discuss the transaction with military authorities.

If the site is approved by the Army, then the trustees plan to ask the Chamber of Commerce for permission to sell the tract. It was the Chamber which spearheaded the campaign for money to purchase the park area.

An Army Reserve unit is presently located in North Charleroi with a strength of 160 men. Military representatives have reportedly expressed strong interest in the Charleroi site.

As a matter of fact, tentative plans of the building have already been supplied by the Army to the trustees for their consideration.

The proposed building will be a two story brick construction in an "L" shape. The front will be 175 feet in length and the other extension 150 feet.

Many Rooms

It will include class rooms, offices, day room, kitchen facilities, dispensary, shower and locker rooms, rest rooms, rifle range and drill hall.

Army representatives attending recent meetings of the trustees explained that the building will be open to "local civic, and similar non-profit organizations during any period as will not cause interference with the training program."

Thus the building could be put to use for many community activities.

However the trustees are quick to point out that it will not supplant the projected civic center.

The trustees also claim the army building will not seriously change the master plan drawn up some years ago for the park. The site under consideration was to be developed into a playground.

Another advantage in luring the building will be the estimated $250,000 annual payroll of the reserve unit, the trustees argued.

So far, the plan has run into minor opposition. Only John LaCarter, chairman of the trustees, has opposed the sale to the Army, questioning the legality of the transaction.

A lengthy letter explaining the proposed sale has been mailed to all members of the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce by president Alex Zelenski. He has promised to inform the membership on further developments as they arise.

At Least He Tried

GARFIELD, N.J. (UP)—George Earles, 41, tried too hard to be helpful Tuesday. He grabbed a burning bedcover from a neighbor's apartment, put it in his car and drove to a fire house where the blaze was put out. Police later arrested Earles on a drunken driving charge.

State Reminds Of Tax Reports

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Revenue Department reminded licensed taxpayers of the 3 per cent sales and use tax today that only firms which collected more than $600 during the first quarter of 1957 are required to report and remit on a monthly basis.

All other business firms which collected less than the amount in the first quarter continue to report and remit on a quarterly basis.

The remindor was issued by the department's Sales Tax Bureau after receipts of a large number of prematurely filed monthly returns and payments on unofficial forms by business firms in the group required to report quarterly.

Light refreshment

MODERN people have little time for yesterday's heavy foods. They pack their picnic baskets with light, less-filling food and drink—and they look and feel better for it.

Pepsi-Cola, too, takes this modern point of view about sensible diet. Never heavy, never too sweet, today's Pepsi is reduced in calories. Pick up a few cartons of Pepsi, to enjoy at the beach, to refresh without filling wherever you week-end.

Fresh Squash Requires Less Cooking

The vegetable we call squash takes its name from the Algonquin Indian language. Unlike most other examples, it is not musical to the ear. Possibly because the term "zucchini" is more appealing, this form of squash has become the most popular of the summer varieties.

Edith Barber

There are innumerable members of the gourd family to which this squash belongs. We find gourds mentioned in the Bible and they were undoubtedly commonly used in the Orient, from which they may have traveled to Europe. Probably, squash is indigenous to both the Old and the New World.

Early colonists were well acquainted with pumpkin, the English term used to describe several kinds of what we call squash. The American natives usually planted the seeds between rows of corn and are said to have fried the "winter" type of squash for future use. The summer squash that we know is much like the vegetable marrow which is so often, and sometimes too often, offered at English tables in its season.

You may choose green or yellow squash with thin or thick skin. In any case, it should be unshriveled. If the skin is tough, it may be pared, but otherwise this is unnecessary. Fresh young squash will cook in just a short time. As little water as possible should be used with it, as it contains much moisture. The seeds are generally so tender they will cook as quickly as the flesh.

SUMMER SQUASH WITH MUSHROOM AND ONION SAUTE

1½ pounds zucchini or summer squash
½ cup sliced mushrooms
3 tablespoons instant minced onion
2-3 cup chopped green pepper (1 medium)
¼ cup salad or olive oil
¼ cup chicken stock or bouillon
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon crumbled oregano

Wash squash and cut into ¼-inch slices. Saute mushrooms, onion and green pepper in hot oil, 3 to 4 minutes. Add squash, chicken stock or bouillon, salt, pepper and oregano. Cook, covered, over low heat 15 to 20 minutes until tender. Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

BAKED SUMMER SQUASH

Cut squash in ½-inch slices. Place in buttered casserole and sprinkle with salt and brown sugar. Dot with butter and bake in moderate oven (350 degree F.) about 20 minutes.

Cherries were known in Asia as far back as the Seventeenth century.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

SQUASH IS BOTH DELICIOUS AND ELEGANT when given an epicurean touch: Saute with mushrooms, green peppers, and onion and simmer until tender in chicken stock.

Onions Differ in Strength

Perhaps an onion is just an onion. Of course, all types have something in common, but they are not all alike. Some have a delicate and sweet flavor. Others, like the yellow onions, are so strong they will make one weep copiously when preparing them.

The white onions, especially those of the western Bermuda type now on the market, can be skinned and sliced almost painlessly. To avoid odor on hands, hold one in a paper towel. Those imported red onions from Italy are mild and are particularly good in salads. The chive, a member of the family, is received in even the best circles. It is featured as a garnish for the famous Vichyssoise and is often used in a sour cream dressing.

A favorite salad is a combination of the onion rings — of course, uncooked — with a French dressing mixed with Roquefort or crumbled blue cheese. This is very good with frankfurters.

3 Memorials

In sad but loving memory of our dearest and beloved husband and dad, Sam Cozza, who passed away 13 years ago today, August 29, 1944.
In our chest of lovely memories
We locked our thoughts of you,
Your smiling face, your tender love
And the things you used to do.
Now and then when we are alone
We open up that chest
And we spend a while
Just longing for
The one we loved best.
God grant you eternal rest.
Sadly missed by his loved ones, wife, Theresa Cozza; sons, Perry and Carmen and daughter, Evelyn.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, William Mehalek, who died two years ago today, August 29, 1955.
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all.
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.
May his soul rest in peace.
Sadly missed by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Mehalek and sister, Marilyn.

In loving memory of our dear nephew and cousin, William Mehalek, who died two years ago today, August 29, 1955.
A shadow fell across our life.
When Death, the Reaper came,
And took our darling Bill away
From earthly care and pain.
But when the mist has passed away,
We'll meet him some sweet day.
Trusting God will give us grace
To meet him in that better place.
Sadly missed by John Mehalek and Family

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Ronald L Clegg, who died two years ago today, August 29, 1955.
Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal;
Loved dearly in life and living yet
In the hearts of the ones who will never forget.
Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sister and Brother

In loving memory of our darling son and brother, Vincent V. Sepesky, who was killed by an automobile 11 years ago today, August 29, 1946.
The children of Heaven were robed in white
And happy at play in the City of Light.
When Jesus came smiling and said to His band;
"Here's another little playmate: give him your hand."
There we'll know his voice in the Lamb's sweet song,
His walk in the streets of gold
And the lovely smile upon his face
As he wore in the days of old.
Sadly missed by mother, Mrs. Jeanne Sepesky, Sisters and Brothers

TB Rate Is Down

LONDON (UP) — Some 6,492 persons died of tuberculosis in Britain in 1955, less than one-fourth the toll of the last pre-war year, the General Register Office announced Wednesday night. The disease still costs British industry 26 million man-days lost each year because of the fairly long period needed to recover from T.B.

Daytime TV to Get New Show on Monday

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) —Daytime TV, an area afflicted with tired blood, may get a transfusion next Monday when a new CBS-TV what-it-is. "The Verdict Is Yours," makes its debut.

It'll be a courtroom drama, but with a difference:

The lawyers on the show will be real lawyers. The judge will be a real judge. The courtroom stenographer will be a real stenographer. And the jury will be picked from the studio audience, a reasonable approximation of people.

"The only parts that'll be taken by actors will be those of the plaintiff, defendant and witnesses," explained Jim McKay who'll lace each trial together. McKay, a member of the CBS news and sports staffs for seven years, will act as a kind of reporter during each make - believe case.

No Scripts Planned

"What we're going to do is make up theoretical cases — the first one will be a child custody dispute," continued McKay. "The actors will be briefed on the basic situation and they'll have conferences with their lawyers before the show goes on.

"But there'll be no script. Everybody will be on his own once the show goes on the air. I'll ad-lib my part, too. We hope the show will combine the best qualities of drama and the Kefauver crime hearings."

The 30-minute Monday-through-Friday show won't fix any time limit on its cases, according to McKay. A case will be carried for a week, two weeks or even longer if the lawyers got involved in legal razzle-dazzle.

CBS Auditioning Lawyers

The lawyers and judge will be changed with each case. Thus far, CBS has auditioned about 150 lawyers in this area in an effort to turn up a batch with camera appeal.

"They're fixing up a little booth on stage for me they're going to call the press room," said the 36-year-old McKay. "I'll operate out of it or conduct interviews or even go in the judge's chamber — wherever anything seems to be cooking.

McKay believes "The Verdict Is Yours" will shoot some juice into afternoon programming, pretty much of a wasteland right now.

"And we think it's certainly going to be different in its approach than the regular run of daytime shows — once we get going, we may really create quite a stir."

Channel 16 to Go Off Air for Good Saturday

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Television Station WENS (Channel 16) announced today it will go off the air Saturday.

The ultra high frequency station began operations Aug 29, 1953, but fought a four-year losing battle against public reluctance to adapt to UHF frequency.

The decision to cease commercial broadcasting was made Tuesday by WENS' board of directors, who simultaneously moved to seek assignment as an auxiliary educational TV channel in conjunction with Pittsburgh educational TV station WQED (Channel 13). WQED announced last spring it was seeking allocation of unused Channel 47 as a supplementary educational facility to be used largely for in-school broadcasting and training courses for personnel of Pittsburgh area industry. Edward Lamb, Toledo Ohio, industrialist and TV-radio station owner, opposed the move then because he previously had applied for Channel 47.

Army to Build Dam Project

WASHINGTON (UP)—Army Engineers will undertake a $13,500,000 construction project at Greenup Locks and Dam in Kentucky and Ohio, it was announced Tuesday.

Also to be undertaken by the engineers were their $636,218,100 federal appropriation for rivers and harbors and related work for the fiscal year that started July 1 were:

Maryland Locks and dams, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, $9,500,000, and Sutton Reservoir, West Virginia, 8-million dollars.

The allocation of conntruction funds included the following:

Ohio River, $68,609,000; Middle Atlantic $30,200.000, Great Lakes-St. Lawrence, $25,711,000.

Your Health—

Adjustment at School Depends on Training

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

In a few days, children across the country will be embarking upon a big adventure — their first day in school.

Until now these six-year-olds have pretty much had their own way. They have played what they wanted to play and with whom they wanted to play.

Now, things are going to be a little different The child's desires are secondary to his teacher's. How well and how rapidly he can adjust to this change depends primarily on how you, his parents, have prepared him for growing up.

Since a youngster's inability to cope readily with this new situation might have an adverse effect on his physical health, I think you should be aware of what the average six-year-old child should be capable of doing. He should:

1. Be self-reliant.
2. Have good self-control.
3. Have overcome childish fears.
4. Have learned to obey.
5. Tell the truth.

If your youngster fails on any of these vital points, it's probably your fault, not his. Let's examine them one by one.

Your six-year-old will be self-reliant if you haven't made all his decisions for him. You can help him and advise him, but let him use his own judgment, too.

On the other hand, you can't let him have his own way all the time or give in to him whenever he pouts or whines. If you do, he won't have good self-control.

By helping him conquer fears of the dark, dogs, and the like, you can rid him of such childish frights. Should you have similar fears yourself, you must hide them from the child.

Be firm and fair in making demands of your youngster, but don't insist upon unnecessary restrictions. Don't automatically answer "No," when he asks for something. Be considerate and your child will quickly learn to obey.

He'll tell the truth rather than lie if you set a good example at home. Never punish him for telling the truth.

The Rev. George Guest, Veteran Presbyterian Pastor, Will Retire

The Rev. George Guest, who has served three separate Presbyterian pulpits in Rostraver Twp. for the past two decades, will retire on Saturday after many "wonderful experiences."

Rev. George Guest

Rev. Mr. Guest preached his farewell sermon last Sunday at the Pricedale Union, Webster and Marion Presbyterian churches. He will officially end his pastorate at those three churches on Aug. 31.

"Mrs. Guest and I have no definite plans for the future," said the popular Rostraver Twp. minister. "We just haven't decided on our future."

As one of his last pastoral duties, Rev. Mr. Guest baptized Randall Warren Echart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Echart, of Sweeney Plan, on Sunday.

Married 80 Couples

The minister was unable to recall just how many other baptisms at which he has officiated, but estimated that he has married more than 80 couples during his stay in the district.

Rev. Mr. Guest is a "self-educated" man in the strict sense of the phrase. Born in Scottdale in 1889, he attended elementary grades there, but that was the extent of his formal schooling for some time.

Even though he lacked a high school diploma, Rev. Mr. Guest was accepted at the Moody Bible School, Chicago, in 1919. He studied there until 1921.

For the next two years, Rev. Mr. Guest served mission churches in Wisconsin. In 1924, he was assigned to a church in Chetek, Wisc., where he was ordained.

Once in Youngwood

In 1926, Rev Mr. Guest returned to the district as pastor of the Church of the Open Door in Greensburg. Two years later, he and his family moved to the Youngwood Presbyterian Church.

In 1936 while at Youngwood, Rev. Mr. Guest began supplying the pulpits at Webster and Marion. Then in 1940, he moved into the township when he accepted the call at the Pricedale Union Church

Rev. Mr. Guest married the former Emma Lloyd of Monessen in 1916. They have a son, Robert Earle now of Arlington, Va., and a daughter, Mrs. Lois Pierson, of North Canton, O.

From 1911 to 1919, Rev. Mr. Guest recalls that he worked in the Monessen tin plate mill. That career was interrupted, however, when he enrolled in the Moody Bible School.

"I have certainly enjoyed my stay in Rostraver Twp.," said the Rev. Mr. Guest.

As yet, none of the three churches has selected a successor to the retiring minister.

New Section of Turnpike Will Open Nov. 1

HARRISBURG (UP) — The remaining section of the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike will be opened to traffic at noon Nov. 1.

Dr. Merritt A. Williamson, commission vice chairman, said a six-week delay, caused by the recent cement strike, prevented opening of the 15½ mile section Sept. 15 as previously announced and "every combined effort of all forces will be made to complete the construction in time for the planned opening."

The final section runs from the Wyoming Valley Interchange northward to the Scranton Interchange, where it will connect with U.S. Routes 6 and 11 north to Scranton. The commission opened a 94½-mile stretch April 1, from the Wyoming Valley Interchange southward to its connection with the main east-west turnpike.

Williamson said no final decision has yet been made on whether ceremonies will be held at the opening of the final link.

Furman Warns Against Speed Traps in State

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman has warned the Pennsylvania Association of Squires and Constables the state will take legislative action unless traffic speedtraps are eliminated.

Speaking at the group's convention banquet Tuesday night, Furman said the traps are set up for private gain and are against the public interest.

"This type of enforcement brings all police work under a cloud of suspicion and destroys the morale and stability of all enforcement agencies," he said. "It is a practice that must be entirely stamped out. If it is not done voluntarily then it must be done by an act of legislature.

Furman also called for "drastic" penalties to put a stop to drag racing on Pennsylvania highways. He criticized the General Assembly for killing a bill which would have sanctioned the use of radar for the detection of motor code violations.

Railroads to Be Given Award

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The American Association of Railroads will be awarded the Franklin Institute's Henderson Medal for Meritorious Achievements in the field of railroad engineering, it was announced today.

The award will be presented at Medal Day ceremonies on Oct. 16.

The Association, founded in 1934 to handle matters of common interest to all railroads, will be cited "in recognition of its many achievements..." which have resulted in greater safety and lower cost in transportation.

The A.A.R. maintains research centers for the development of safety devices, mechanical aids, and standardization of railroading practices.
